

EXCOM membership by admission of members

UNHCR Advisory Committee established in 1951

The following fifteen members

Australia	France	Switzerland
Austria	Germany	Turkey
Belgium	Holy See	United Kingdom
Brazil	Israel	United States
Denmark	Italy	Venezuela (Bolivarian Republic of)*

The UNREF Executive Committee established in 1955

The same fifteen members as the Advisory Committee, plus:

Colombia	the Netherlands	as of 1957
Greece	Norway	Canada
Iran, Islamic Rep. of

Executive Committee of the High Commissioner's Programme, 1958

The same twenty-one members as the UNREF Executive Committee, plus:

China	as of 1995	as of 2006
Sweden	Bangladesh	Jordan
Tunisia	India	Portugal
Yugoslavia (Socialist Federal Republic of)	Russian Federation
as of 1963	as of 1996	as of 2007
Algeria	Ireland	Estonia
Lebanon		Costa Rica
Madagascar	as of 1997	as of 2008
Nigeria	Poland	Benin
Tanzania, United Rep. of	South Africa	Luxembourg
as of 1967	as of 1999	Montenegro
Uganda	Mozambique	The former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia
as of 1979	as of 2000	as of 2009
Argentina	Chile	Djibouti
Finland	Côte d'Ivoire	Republic of Moldova
Japan	Republic of Korea	As of 2010
Lesotho		Slovenia
Morocco	as of 2001	As of 2011
Nicaragua	Mexico	Bulgaria
Sudan	as of 2002	Cameroon
Thailand	Ecuador	Congo
Democratic Republic of the Congo	Guinea	Croatia
as of 1982	New Zealand	Togo
Namibia	Serbia	Turkmenistan
as of 1988	as of 2003	Total: 85
Pakistan	Cyprus
Somalia	Kenya
as of 1991	Yemen
Philippines	as of 2004
as of 1993	Egypt
Ethiopia	Zambia
Hungary	as of 2005
as of 1994	Ghana
Spain	Romania

* On 17 November 2004, the United Nations was informed that the short name of Venezuela had been changed to Venezuela (Bolivaria Republic of)

 In 2002 following the dissolution of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (after the secession of Croatia, Slovenia, The former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia and Bosnia and Herzegovina), the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Montenegro and Serbia) was admitted as a new member. On 4 February 2003, the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia informed the United Nations that it had changed its name to Serbia and Montenegro. On 3 June 2006, following the Declaration of Independence adopted by the Republic of Montenegro, the Republic of Serbia (Serbia) informed the United Nations that it would continue the United Nations membership previously held by Serbia and Montenegro.

 On 20 May 1997, the Republic of Zaïre was renamed the Democratic Republic of the Congo