HISTORY; PURPOSE:

The Adventist Development and Relief Agency (ADRA) is an independent humanitarian agency, established in 1984 by the Seventh-day Adventist Church for the specific purpose of providing community development and disaster relief. ADRA serves people without regard to their ethnic, political, or religious association. It simply helps people in need, especially those most vulnerable such as women, children and refugees. ADRA recognized the dignity that is inherent in each person and is committed to improving the quality of human life. ADRA partners with individuals, communities, organizations, and governments to improve the quality of life for millions around the world through the five core portfolio activities of basic education, primary health, food security, economic development and disaster preparedness and response.

STRUCTURE:

In order to fulfill the purpose of ADRA, the agency has offices in more than 120 countries around the world. Some of the offices are donor coordinating offices and the others are implementing offices. This organization helps ensure appropriate assistance is delivered to the neediest communities in the poorest regions, utilizing funding from governments in their priorities areas and from other sources to target the assistance. Country offices are independent and organized according to the reality of programming in the country. ADRA Yemen has a central office in the capital of Sana'a and 5 sub-offices in Aden, Aden governorate; Kharaz Refugee Camp in Lahj governorate; Hais in Hodeidah governorate; Al Jawf, Al Jawf governorate and Sa'ada, Sa'ada governorate. Where security allows, project managers are stationed in the field offices, while the country director, program officer and finance office staff are located in Sana'a.

ACTIVITIES:

ADRA Yemen's activities in Yemen focus on primary health care, economic development, education and food security. The main target groups are women, children, poor families, those with special needs and refugees. ADRA's work with the refugees touches on all priority areas for the agency. Yemen's refugee community is among the most vulnerable, disadvantages in the country and activities further target the neediest within the refugee community. ADRA partners with UNHCR and other donors to provide social services to refugees living in Kharaz Refugee Camp and to urban refugees in Basateen, a suburb of Aden. Activities include counseling, special needs intervention and referral, vocational and skills training, income generating and recreation such as sports, music and library resources. Another of the most marginalized community ADRA assists is the physically challenged. Through ADRA's sub-office in Hais, ADRA provides physical therapy, rehabilitation and counseling to persons with mobility difficulties. Additionally, ADRA has agreements with other health care providers to assist those with eye or ear problems, for those needing cleft palate/lip surgery and for persons needing prosthetic devices. One of the pressing needs in Yemen is a new way to deal with conflict. ADRA is working with community leaders and associations in two of the most volatile governorates in the country, Sa'ada and Al Jawf, for conflict mitigation. ADRA expects that this innovative project will serve as a pilot for expansion in future to other high-conflict areas.

ANCB has a partnership system with donors. In such a system we are partners of UN, donors and other international organizations, the position of the National NGOs is to learn from them and mobilize themselves according to the demands of time and step up great measures, in reconstruction of Afghanistan and saving the Afghan people from horrible effects of fighting, poverty, drought and other natural disasters. The joint collaboration conference between the Islamic Transitional Government of Afghanistan and NGOs, which took place in Kabul on Nov-2002, was a positive step to improve and promote joint coordination among the Government and NGOs for reconstruction and development of Afghanistan. The people of Afghanistan should realize their rights, defend of their rights, and struggle for human rights and peace in the country. They should struggle to over the warlords and avail living conditions according to their rights. ANCB, in International level, due to its positive and productive policy and strategy is a member of Afghanistan Program Body (APB) which National and International NGOs, UN and Donors are its members, through APB we have had coordination with Donor agencies and organizations, that each of them represent a country. Realizing the reality that the issue of Afghanistan is an International issue, attracting International assistances and co-operations for Afghanistan have been very important and vital for the country. ANCB, in this process tried its best to get the membership of an International Organization, fortunately the International Council of Voluntary Agencies (ICVA), based in Geneva, welcomed our membership. Through ICVA, ANCB has strengthened its relations with the other International organizations. In the same time a cooperation agreement between ANCB and Peace Waves, based in Italy was signed in Kabul. Regarding this agreement, Peace Waves opened its office in Kabul and further strengthened its relation and desires to play its productive role in reconstruction of Afghanistan especially in education sectors. ANCB publication, (PAIWASTOON Magazine, ANCB publication organ) has also reflected these objectives and has raised its voice for peace and prosperity of the people through out the world. ANCB has the honor that its professional and experienced staff has strengthen its relationship with the donor agencies and reflects their humanitarian activities in the national and international level, such relations and contributions have provided ANCB the opportunity to obtain the trust, help, assistance and cooperation of National and International NGOs particularly the donor agencies. Tel: +44 (0) 7843 427 676

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Objectives

1. To provide relief for refugees by offering pro bono legal advice on issues relating to asylum determination, settlement of migrants, family reunification and other matters relating to the enjoyment of the fundamental rights.
2. To provide psychosocial services to help refugees deal emotionally and mentally with their past and present struggles and to empower them to present their testimonies at interviews conducted with state authorities or with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR).
3. To advance education of the public, in particular lawyers and paralegals, in matters relating to forced migration and law affecting refugees in Africa and the Middle East. The 1951 Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees and its 1967 Protocol, as well as the 1969 Organisation of African Unity, prohibit states from returning refugees to a place where their lives could be threatened (the principle of non-refoulement) on account of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion. A fair refugee status determination (RSD) is essential to identify those who should benefit from the Conventions, convention covering specific aspects of refugee problems in Africa and to ensure that governments comply with their obligations. Without just and efficient RSD processes states can - and do - return refugees to places where they face persecution. Asylum seekers need to receive guidance and to have access to legal aid at all stages of asylum procedures. Refugees are very seldom able to pay for legal assistance. Many asylum seekers remain unrepresented despite the number of pro bono lawyers and legal volunteers around the world. Living without documents and without UNHCR or government protection places them at risk of detention, refoulement and other infringements of their basic human rights. I.

Today, throughout the middle east and refugee these regions, more RSD is being decided on an individual basis, and claims are increasingly adjudicated by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) rather than by governments. In the Middle East, few governments have signed the 1951 Convention, and even where they have, UNHCR has frequently assumed the responsibility for RSD. Legal aid - especially in status determination - is the right of all refugees. The provision of that right has too often been neglected or denied. Legal assistance is essential in order to help asylum seekers win recognition as refugees. The post 9/11 world is one of increasing restrictions on asylum, narrowing anti-immigration policies and growing sentiments of xenophobia and suspicion, not to mention the government measures enacted and implemented today in the name of enhanced security. The need for pro bono representation in Africa and the Middle East, indeed, throughout the South, is more urgent than ever. History of AMERA-UK African and Middle East Assistance (AMERA) was founded as a UK Charity in January 2003, (Registered Charity No. 1098788), to promote the development of pro bono legal aid for refugees in countries where such services are non-existent and where legal representation might assist them in realizing their rights. The awareness of this need came out of several years of research in Africa and the Mediterranean region that exposed the appalling conditions in which most refugees live and the failure of states to protect them. In Uganda, The Refugee Law Project, part of the Faculty of Law at Makerere University, was initiated in 1997 and formally began in 1999 to meet the legal aid need of refugees there. In Kenya, The Refugee Consortium opened in 1998. In Cairo, The Refugee Legal Aid Project began in 2000. Born out of the experience of these years of work in Uganda, Kenya and Egypt, AMERA-UK aims to support and to stimulate the development of further refugee legal aid projects throughout Africa and the Middle East. AMERA-UK's role is to nurture and coordinate emerging projects, ensure high standards of pro bono legal representation and to raise money for the growing network of pro bono refugee legal aid offices.

STRUCTURE:

See www.amera-uk.org

ACTIVITIES:

AMERA supports the delivery of pro bono legal aid in the global South. It works to improve the quality of legal services available to refugees through education and training. It conducts research and lobbies, for example, this year on issues of statelessness, women at risk, against refugee encampment, improvement in procedural standards in refugee status determination, an independent appeal procedure, and for the right for refugees to be represented when decisions are taken by UNHCR. It provides its affiliates in Egypt, Kenya, Lebanon, Turkey, Uganda and elsewhere with information, advice, country of origin information and opportunities to have cases externally reviewed by a group of refugee law experts.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Founded in 1994 in the aftermath of the Rwandan genocide, AHA is a pan-African non-governmental humanitarian organization. From protecting IDPs in Darfur, to repatriating refugees in the DR Congo, to raising awareness of HIV/AIDS in Ethiopia; we deliver a wide range of lifesaving services to meet complex and varying needs.

Our proximity to affected populations and understanding of local contexts maximise the sustainability and accountability of the multi-sectoral programmes we deliver.

In all of our programmes we work together with local populations, aware that long lasting change is grounded in ownership, empowerment and increased capacity.

STRUCTURE:

Africa Humanitarian Action has grown into a pan-African organization, with the goal of providing humanitarian assistance and human security to communities and persons affected by conflict, instability, disasters, and poverty in Africa. AHA is governed by a Board of Trustees that assess accountability to both affected populations and donors. The Board of Trustees appoints a Board of Directors, which sets strategic priorities and monitors performance, standards and results. The Group of Friends of AHA provides, on an ad hoc basis, information, advice and support for strategic developments and fundraising purposes. AHA is present in 14 countries. It has 1,423 staff representing 18 nationalities. 19 at the Head Office and the rest at the Country Offices and field levels. 43 are in management positions of which 7 are at the Head Office. The male to female ratio stands at 3 to 1 on the average. About 85% of our field staff are recruited from local communities and affected populations.

ACTIVITIES:

AHA activities are divided in six domains of intervention:

Capacity Building; Emergency Response; Infrastructure and Rehabilitation; Medical services; Training and Water and Sanitation.

Better responding to humanitarian crises for AHA means better understanding how humanitarian action fits into and complements indigenous people's coping mechanisms and livelihood practices. AHA firmly believes that building local capacity is the key to capturing indigenous inputs and to efficiently enhance effectiveness of humanitarian action. AHA advocates for more equitable partnerships, mutual accountability, capacity-building and burden-sharing.

Chapters in Africa: -Benin / Liberia / Mali / Nigeria / Sierra Leone / Chad Chapters outside Africa: -Brussels / Geneva / London / Paris / Washington DC

ACTIVITIES:

The objectives of African Concern being solutions to conflicts, forced displacement and developmental activities, it has been possible for the organization in partnership mainly with UNHCR, to carry out activities in practically all those domains.

African Concern has worked with UNHCR in camp management, community development, agriculture, skills training, water sanitation and distribution in Sierra Leone from 2002 to 2004. Beside UNHCR, African Concern has implemented HIV/AIDS prevention campaign for the National Commission for Social Action (NaCSA); the European Union has benefited from African Concern's expertise in constructing a primary school; the Demobilization Disarmament and Rehabilitation Commission has requested African Concern's expertise in agriculture to reintegrate ex-combatant with rice production. Finally, African Concern has also worked with UNICEF and DFID.

In Liberia, as from may 2004, again in association with UNHCR, African Concern has been involved in community empowerment projects covering a wide range of activities such as rehabilitation, construction or reconstruction of markets, schools, health units, administrative structures. In view of the difficult situation in which post-war Liberia finds itself, inter-district games have been organised with a view to acquainting the local communities with Olympics and other games as well as soccer in order to allay hostile feelings amongst them and generate peaceful coexistence.

In Chad, still with UNHCR, from 2004 through 2005, African Concern has held the responsibility of managing the two main camps of AMBOKO in the NYA-PENDE department and YAROUNGOU in the GRANDE SIDO department, all in southern Chad. For 2006, African Concern proceeded with only the activities in YAROUNGOU camp.

The activities in the camps bore on camp management, food and non-food items distribution, education, agriculture, construction, water sanitation. A secondary school, block of four classrooms, in GORE has been funded by African Concern to the benefit of Central African Republic refugee students transferred from AMBOKO to that town, this on the premises of the National Education Lycée.

In 2006, in BENIN, a vegetable garden project is being set up in AGAME for Togolese refugees with the funding from a American Embassy in that country. The operation has started with a campaign of tree planting within the AGAME refugee camp.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Aliran was founded by a group of seven individuals of different ethnic and religious backgrounds, in August 1977. Its founder-president, Dr. Chandra Muzafer headed the organization until 1991. Subsequently Dr. Ariffin Omar held the post from 1992 to 1993. Dr. Ariffin was succeeded by Mr. P. Ramakrishnan who has been repeatedly elected to the post by members since then, and is Aliran's current president. Aliran's main purpose has been to develop thinking and reflection on major social issues ranging from human rights to national unity from a non-sectarian, non-political spiritual perspective that emphasizes the universality of humankind. It is our hope that this belief in universal spiritual values will be the basis for furthering justice, freedom and solidarity effecting social change towards a peaceful, just and harmonious world. Our vehicle of advocacy is mainly through articles published in our magazine, Aliran Monthly and our website. Being media and information based, Aliran also disseminates and acts as an information exchange for other NGOs and individuals, based on the basic human right of freedom of expression and information as per Article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Aliran also highlights issues through press releases and supports socio-economic and human rights campaigns of other NGOs like Amnesty International, Suara Rakyat Malaysia (Suaram), Women's groups, Refugee and migrant organizations, Disabled rights groups, public transport and environmental organizations, Anti-privatization of Health care services, Anti-privatization of Water, and the Movement for the Abolition of the Internal Security Act to name a few. Mission over Three Decades. In 1980, just three years after inception, Aliran began its controversial journey as an organization advocating 'Freedom, Justice and Solidarity'. Due to our outspokenness and critical views of government policies, laws and actions, we seem to be a permanent target for smear campaigns, suppression and censorship by the Malaysian government. In 1987, when several newspapers, including those in the mainstream media, were shut down by the Mahathir administration, Aliran continued to publish Aliran Monthly in an effort to counter the suppression of freedom of expression and information under Operation Lalang. Our then founder-president Dr. Chandra Muzafer was also detained under the Internal Security Act together with members of other NGOs in the government's sweeping wave of arrests and detention of persons it saw as threats to national security. In the same year we acquired Ecosoc status. Nonetheless, Aliran survived this trial but has continually been faced with problems in the process of producing Aliran Monthly. There have been numerous changes of printers and distributors of the magazine over our 30 years of existence, due to the fact that at some stage the printer decides for unexplained reasons to terminate printing the Monthly. We have been threatened with de-registration and delayed renewal of our publishing license. Over recent years, distributors have also been problematic and street sales of AM have been brought to an all time low. Despite this, Aliran persists in its role as reality check on the mainstream media and government. We continue to present independent critical and analytical views and allow alternative voices especially of the marginalized a hearing, which they might never have in the mainstream media. Aliran does not depend on funding from any external international source or government. The organization survives by the goodwill of members, supporters and subscribers of Aliran Monthly who make monetary donations to the organization and through our own fund raising efforts.

STRUCTURE:

Aliran is a Penang based organization with its head office in the same state. The major guidelines for Aliran's policies come from the Annual General Meeting held in November. Actual decision making is in the hands of a 15 member Executive Committee comprising the president, secretary, assistant secretary, treasurer and 11 other executive committee members. Aliran has a small staff of four regular office workers consisting of three full-time and one part-time staff. We depend a great deal on the voluntary efforts of our members, particularly the executive committee. Aliran's membership currently stands at 178.

ACTIVITIES:

Activities are carried out by various bureaus. These include, International Affairs, NGO Liaison, Media, Talks and Fraternity, Distribution, Office Administration and Resource Room, Fund-Raising, and Planning. Aliran organizers talks, forums, workshops and seminars on a variety of human rights and social justice issues. Our latest initiative was the Pesta Rakyat Merdeka in Penang that involved 25 Penang NGOs in an Alternative celebration of Malaysia's 50 years of Independence and 44 years of nationhood. Aliran is also the initiator in collaboration with KOMAS for holding a similar event in Kuala Lumpur in September this year. Aliran in collaboration with the Penang Office for Human Development is in the process of forming a Northern Migration Network to better channel and consolidate needed services to migrant workers, refugees and other migrant groups regardless of immigration status. This effort is also in support of UNHCR's work in the northern region of Peninsular Malaysia. Aliran is also a member organization of the Migration Working Group (MWG) founded in Kuala Lumpur in 2006. In May 2006, Aliran organized a Forum on the Federal Constitution in collaboration with Article 11 (a coalition of NGOs concerned with the right to freedom of religion under the Malaysian Federal Constitution.) The Forum was aborted even before it properly started due to a demonstration outside the venue, by Muslim groups and organizations, including political parties. Aliran's members also represent the organization and participate in various meetings, conferences and discussions on human rights, alternative development, inter-religious cooperation, labour rights, and humanitarian issues etc. at national, regional and international level.

Amnesty International (AI) is a worldwide movement of people who campaign for internationally recognized human rights. AI's vision is of a world in which every person enjoys all of the human rights enshrined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other international human rights standards. In pursuit of this vision, AI's mission is to undertake research and action focused on preventing and ending grave abuses of the rights to physical and mental integrity, freedom of conscience and expression, and freedom from discrimination, within the context of its work to promote all human rights. AI is independent of any government, political ideology, economic interest or religion.

It does not support or oppose any government or political system, nor does it support or oppose the views of the victims whose rights it seeks to protect. It is concerned solely with the impartial protection of human rights. AI has a varied network of members and supporters around the world. At the latest count, there were more than 1.8 million members, supporters and subscribers in over 150 countries and territories in every region of the world. Although they come from many different backgrounds and have widely different political and religious beliefs, they are united by a determination to work for a world where everyone enjoys human rights. AI is a democratic, self-governing movement. Major policy decisions are taken by an International Council made up of representatives from all national sections. AI's national sections and local volunteer groups are primarily responsible for funding the movement. No funds are sought or accepted from governments for AI's work investigating and campaigning against human rights violations.

STRUCTURE:

Amnesty International's statute can be found at the following link: <http://web.amnesty.org/pages/aboutai-statute-eng>

ACTIVITIES:

AI does research and advocacy for the protection and promotion of the human rights of refugees, asylum-seekers, migrants and IDPs.

We work towards securing their fundamental rights and to improving and maintaining the quality of protection of people who are entitled to it.

We do this by exposing human rights abuses and protection failures, advocating policy and legal changes, and sometimes through taking action on individual cases or issues. AI has a global network of Refugee Coordinators in more than 50 countries who take action on some individual cases or issues, lobby their own governments for changes in laws and policies and work with other non-government organizations to promote the protection of the rights of asylum seekers, refugees, migrants and IDPs. The staff at the International Secretariat in London and Geneva work towards influencing international policy and standard setting, as well as advocating for the effective implementation of international standards, policies and guidelines in a way that respects the human rights of asylum-seekers, refugees, migrants and IDPs. Refugee Coordinators, the International Secretariat as well as UN offices in Geneva, New York and an EU office in Brussels work towards an overall strengthening of the international protection framework. This includes calling on states to share responsibility for protecting refugees. Amnesty International does not represent individual asylum-seekers or refugees, but sometimes takes action in individual cases. If Amnesty International does not actively support a particular case it does not necessarily mean that the organization believes that the person or persons concerned is not deserving of protection as a refugee. Asylum-seekers, lawyers, and decision-makers often use country information and analysis from AI reports during asylum procedures.

Although they come from many different backgrounds and have widely different political and religious beliefs, they are united by a determination to work for a world where everyone enjoys human rights.

AI is a democratic, self-governing movement. Major policy decisions are taken by an International Council made up of representatives from all national sections.

AI's national sections and local volunteer groups are primarily responsible for funding the movement. No funds are sought or accepted from governments for AI's work investigating and campaigning against human rights violations.

STRUCTURE:

Amnesty International's statute can be found at the following link: <http://web.amnesty.org/pages/aboutai-statute-eng>

ACTIVITIES:

AI does research and advocacy for the protection and promotion of the human rights of refugees, asylum seekers, migrants and IDPs. We work towards securing their fundamental rights and to improving and maintaining the quality of protection of people who are entitled to it. We do this by exposing human rights abuses and protection failures, advocating policy and legal changes, and sometimes through taking action on individual cases or issues. AI has a global network of Refugee Coordinators in more than 50 countries who take action on some individual cases or issues, lobby their own governments for changes in laws and policies and work with other non-government organisations to promote the protection of the rights of asylum seekers, refugees, migrants and IDPs.

The staff at the International Secretariat in London and Geneva work towards influencing international policy and standard setting, as well as advocating for the effective implementation of international standards, policies and guidelines in a way that respects the human rights of asylum-seekers, refugees, migrants and IDPs.

Refugee Coordinators, the International Secretariat as well as UN offices in Geneva, New York and an EU office in Brussels work towards an overall strengthening of the international protection framework. This includes calling on states to share responsibility for protecting refugees.

Amnesty International does not represent individual asylum-seekers or refugees, but sometimes takes action in individual cases. If Amnesty International does not actively support a particular case it does not necessarily mean that the organisation believes that the person or persons concerned is not deserving of protection as a refugee. Asylum-seekers, lawyers, and decision-makers often use country information and analysis from AI reports during asylum procedures.

The CCVT is a non-profit, registered charitable organization, founded by several Toronto doctors, lawyers and social service professionals, many of whom were associated with Amnesty International. They had begun to see victims of torture in their practices as early as 1977.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Creation of CARE Canada was in 1977. CARE Canada's mission is to serve individuals and families in the poorest communities of the world by; - Strengthening capacity for self-help -Delivering relief emergencies -Influencing policy decisions at all levels -Addressing discrimination in all its forms Our programmes are focus on : -Agriculture -Education -Health -Water and sanitation -Market development -Emergency

The scope of CARE's mission has changed considerably since its founding in 1945, when 22 American organizations came together to rush life-saving "CARE packages" to survivors of the Second World War. On May 11, 1946, with help from Canada, the first 20,000 packages reached the battered port of Le Havre, France. Some 100 million more CARE packages reached people in need during the next two decades, first in Europe and later in Asia and other parts of the developing world. Over the years, CARE's work has expanded as it addresses the world's most threatening problems. In the 1950s, CARE expanded into emerging nations; in the 1960s, it pioneered primary health care programmes. In the 1970s, CARE responded to massive famines in Africa with both emergency relief and long-term agro-forestry projects, integrating environmentally sound land-management practices with farming programmes. HISTORY; PURPOSE:

The scope of CARE's mission has changed considerably since its founding in 1945, when 22 American organizations came together to rush life-saving "CARE packages" to survivors of the Second World War. On May 11, 1946, with help from Canada, the first 20,000 packages reached the battered port of Le Havre, France. Some 100 million more CARE packages reached people in need during the next two decades, first in Europe and later in Asia and other parts of the developing world. Over the years, CARE's work has expanded as it addresses the world's most threatening problems. In the 1950s, CARE expanded into emerging nations; in the 1960s, it pioneered primary health care programmes. HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Church World Service, founded in 1946, is a relief, development and refugee assistance organization implementing its humanitarian programs on behalf of the 36 Protestant, Orthodox, and Anglican member denominations. Working in partnership with indigenous and community-based organizations in some 80 countries, CWS supports sustainable self-help development, meets emergency needs, aids forcibly displaced, and helps address the root causes of poverty and powerlessness. Within the United States, Church World Service assists communities in responding to disasters, resettles refugees, promotes fair national and international policies, provides educational resources, and offers opportunities to join a people-to-people network of local and global caring.

STRUCTURE:

CWS has five program areas: Emergency Response, Immigration and Refugee, Social and Economic Development, Education and Advocacy for International Peace and Justice, and Mission relationships and Witness. The Church World Service Immigration and Refugee Program, the largest program of CWS, was created at the end of World War II to respond to the needs of refugees in Europe. Since 1946, CWS/IRP has helped more than 450,000 refugees begin new lives in the United States, and continues to resettle about 8,000 more refugees and entrants each year. CWS/IRP, eight participating denominations and their congregations, and 40 CWS/IRP local refugee resettlement affiliates in 25 states work together to meet the needs of refugees upon their arrival to the United States, assisting them as they work to attain self-sufficiency.

A growing number of local affiliates provide immigration legal services along with refugee resettlement services.

ACTIVITIES:

In addition to refugee resettlement, The Church World Service Immigration and Refugee Program also processes the cases of refugees from sub-Saharan Africa for resettlement in the United States through a Cooperative Agreement with the Department of State; provides needed services to refugees, asylum seekers, immigrants, and Cuban and Haitian entrants through its Miami Office; administers the Religious Services Program, which was established in 2004 and operates in eight government-run immigration detention centers across the United States; helps meet the needs of people in protracted refugee situations through its Durable Solutions for Displaced People (DSDP) program, and monitors public policy and practice toward immigrants, refugees, asylum seekers, and migrants; represents public policy positions adopted by CWS/IRP to the federal government, working in collaboration with a number of advocacy partners in refugee resettlement and protection organizations to build a hospitable community in the United States for immigrants, refugees, asylum seekers, and migrants.

DSDP: An Investment in Displaced People's Future A fundamental part of CWS' programming is the Durable Solutions for the Displaced Program (DSDP), which concentrates on work with the forcibly displaced individuals falling into the gap between relief and development. DSDP provides post-primary education and vocational training, health education and care, and access to (timely and accurate) information, and it advocates for refugees. Working with both refugees and their often impoverished host communities and in consultation with community advisory groups, it seeks to leave behind infrastructure and to complement (not compete with) existing programs in the field.

En este sentido la incidencia compromete ejercicios de capacitación, así como el diseño de alternativas de política pública y de respuesta social y su correspondiente gestión en los espacios de toma de decisiones. La incidencia requiere de procesos de diálogo, intercambio y acción permanente con redes de trabajo por los derechos humanos y la paz en el plano regional, nacional e internacional. En este sentido CODHES promueve la interlocución directa con gobiernos y organismos internacionales de carácter intergubernamental y promueve el reconocimiento como interlocutores válidos de las organizaciones de población desplazada, migrante o refugiada en función de sus derechos.

Fortalecimiento de capacidades sociales. Las organizaciones y comunidades en situación de desplazamiento forzado y refugio constituyen un referente clave en el esfuerzo de construcción de respuestas sociales e institucionales, evaluación y formulación de políticas públicas y participación en la búsqueda de soluciones duraderas. CODHES desarrolla procesos orientados a fortalecer sus capacidades sociales, a partir de programas de formación, promoción de mecanismos de participación, cualificación del discurso y reconocimiento de su condición de interlocutores directos con capacidad de incidencia.

La especificidad del trabajo de CODHES se relaciona con los derechos de las personas en situación o en riesgo de desplazamiento forzado y refugio, pero desde allí se articula integralmente a la agenda general de los derechos humanos y a la búsqueda de alternativas de transformación política democrática de las dinámicas de conflicto armado, a partir del reconocimiento de la diversidad y del respeto por la diferencia.

Fortalecimiento y sostenibilidad institucional. CODHES asume como una estrategia el desarrollo de su capacidad administrativa, el fortalecimiento y sostenibilidad de la organización. El Consejo Directivo de CODHES trabaja de conformidad con las decisiones de la Asamblea, en la reestructuración organizacional para continuar el proceso de fortalecimiento, haciendo énfasis en la institucionalización de procedimientos y protocolos para la actuación administrativa y programática en un clima laboral acorde con los principios institucionales.

The Episcopal Church was a partner with sixteen Protestant denominations in founding in 1946 Church World Service (CWS) as the overseas relief and service arm of the National Council of Churches of Christ. Until 1981, the Presiding Bishop's Fund resettled refugees through CWS. From 1981 to 1988, the refugee work of the Episcopal Church was carried out as a program of the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief. In 1988 Episcopal Migration Ministries was established as the Episcopal Church's entity for carrying out resettlement work and conducting advocacy and witness on behalf of refugees and immigrants. In 1991 in response to another restructuring of the National Church, EMM became a part of the Advocacy, Witness and Justice Ministries Unit. It now stands as one of four national program clusters of the Church.

STRUCTURE:

EMM carries out a national program of refugee resettlement through a public-private partnership with the U.S. government. Our network is comprised of 33 sites covering 26 diocesan programs in the U.S.

EMM and its partners in the Episcopal Office of Government Relations carry forth advocacy on behalf of refugees, immigrants, and other at-risk uprooted groups for whom protection through better public policy is needed. Linkages with other organizations, both within ECUSA and outside the church, are provided for fuller information about key issues and the advocacy required to change public policy.

National office consists of the director and assistant director, the office of PROCESSING and PLACEMENT MANAGEMENT, PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT and MANAGEMENT, CHURCH RELATIONS and OUTREACH, and FINANCE and TRAVEL LOANS.

ACTIVITIES:

REFUGEE resettlement in the USA.

ADVOCACY: EMM's advocacy emphasizes a generous U.S. admissions program which responds to the worldwide refugee crisis. The priority given to this advocacy relates to the significant decline in refugees being resettled in the U.S. over the past ten years, a problem heightened by the events of 9/11.

OUTREACH support including, asylum-seekers and at-risk women and children.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE AND JUSTICE: A notable example is the initiative undertaken by the EMM Washington Office on behalf of debt reduction

The main thrust of the movement is to work towards the practical implementation of the United Nation's Convention for the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women. - Justice for victims fighting impunity: FIDH gives daily support to victims by accompanying them throughout the entire course of their legal proceedings. FIDH made a significant contribution to the establishment of the International Criminal Court. HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Forum réfugiés is a non profit organisation assisting refugees and defending the right to asylum. Located in Lyon (France), it was created in 1982 by a group of NGOs (Secours Catholique, SSAE, Cimade, Entraide protestante, Centre Pierre Valdo, Sonacotra) which chose to give it as mandate the protection of refugees.

STRUCTURE:

With about 100 employees and a budget of 8,6 million euros in 2007, Forum réfugiés is a well-known actor in the field of asylum and is supported by public and private partners, at national, european and international levels.

ACTIVITIES:

Housing asylum seekers in reception centres

The organisation runs one Transit Centre, four Reception Centres for Asylum Seekers (CADA), and a Provisional Housing Centre (CPH) for statutory refugees. In this capacity, we are responsible for the continuous monitoring and support of 700 people and guarantee 300,000 nights a year in reception centres. Asylum seekers admitted into our reception centres benefit from legal and social support for the entire length of their case. Forum réfugiés has, on several occasions, mobilised in order to cope with exceptional circumstances demanding emergency reception operations: for refugees from Kosovo in 1999, and Kurdish refugees from the East Sea in 2001.

La Maison du réfugié (The Centre for Refugees)

In Lyon, Forum Réfugiés has brought together all of its services for refugees and asylum seekers in one centre, in order to simplify the process for them. Asylum seekers and refugees can find help here at any stage in their claim.

Reception and domiciliation

Forum réfugiés runs a domiciliation service to provide an address for asylum seekers who are newly arrived in the local area (département) and do not possess a personal or third person address. The administrative process includes opening a dossier for the newly arrived and explaining the process of demanding asylum. Alongside this, however, we include a social aspect, responding to primary needs, particularly for housing and orientation. This reception service has been financed by the European Refugee Fund (ERF) since 2000.

Support for those outside our reception centres

Forum réfugiés guarantees legal, administrative and social support for several thousand people outside of its centres in order to help them gain access to the asylum procedure and to make the process easier.

Rejected claims

The Centre for Refugees also provides advice for people whose asylum claims have been rejected. They are given information about the national plan for voluntary return and the possibility of obtaining papers (regularisation). The team also prepares the dossiers for regularisation or voluntary return for those that are interested. A full time post is given over to observing the development of these issues at the local and national level.

Integrating statutory refugees

In 2002 Forum réfugiés launched the Accelair programme, co-financed by the European Social Fund (ESF) as part of the European EQUAL programme. This programme aims to improve the capacity for the integration of statutory refugees in order to reduce the inequalities and the discrimination they encounter, notably in the areas of access to stable employment and housing. The programme has now reached the end of its fifth year in activity and recently passed the threshold of 2,200 beneficiaries in the Rhone area. More than 600 households have been rehoused and two thirds of them have found work after a period of delay considerably shorter than that found in other populations with integration difficulties.

Health

In 2007 Forum réfugiés joined forces with Parcours d'Exil to implement a European project, called ESSOR (Enlargement and Reinforcement of Care Structures in Paris and the Regions). In the context of this project, we inaugurated, in July 2007, the first clinic in the Rhone-Alpes region specialised in the treatment of trauma and victims of torture. This experimental project, that will last 3 years (2007-2009), is based around the transfer of skills and knowledge from the organisation Parcours d'Exil, which runs one of the two such specialised clinics in Paris. The clinic will offer specialised care for 1000 people, thanks to a team of specially trained healthcare professionals (doctors, psychologists and physiotherapists). Also planned are activities to raise awareness and examine methods of prevention, aimed both at those admitted and professionals in the Region.

Legal Expertise

Forum réfugiés defends the effectiveness of the right to asylum by various means. We maintain a close watch over the regulatory situation, take contentious action and participate in research. Asylum related issues in Europe, regulation at a national level, questions of health and welfare, housing and employment; all of these things are the object of constant monitoring by groups that bring together employees from the different services within the organisation and meet every month for discussion.

Forum réfugiés, with the assistance of the ERF, dedicates one position entirely to research on the countries of origin and transit of asylum seekers, as well as a "European" position given over to studying asylum issues on a European level.

Raising awareness

Forum réfugiés pursues an active campaign of raising awareness and lobbying for the protection of refugees by various means;

- a quarterly journal
- an internet site (www.forumrefugies.org)
- an annual report on asylum

- press releases
 - producing and distributing summaries and memoranda on the position of Forum réfugiés
 - events to raise awareness amongst the wider public
- Every year since 2004, on the 20th of June, Forum réfugiés has organised a march with umbrellas for World Refugee Day. In 2007, this march will take place simultaneously in Lyon and Paris.
- In 2005, we organised "Passez le mot!" ("Spread the word!"), a month of public activities in support of refugees. This included an evening of music and raising awareness at Vienne's Roman Amphitheatre.
- Since 2004, in partnership with UNHCR and the Ministry of the Interior, Forum réfugiés has written and edited the Asylum Seeker's Handbook, available in three languages. Under provisions in the law, this guide will be distributed to all French Prefectures.

Lobbying

Since 2005, Forum réfugiés' Paris office has insured that Forum réfugiés' message is transmitted to political decision makers, to the bodies responsible for the protection of refugees, and to the Refugee Appeals Board (la Commission des recours des réfugiés).

Two reference documents steer our activities in this domain: at the national level, "Ten propositions for an effective right to asylum" (10 propositions pour un droit d'asile effectif, 10 May 2006), and at the European level "The Way Forward", a European Council on Refugees and Exile (ECRE) document, translated into French by Forum réfugiés. This document makes a series of constructive recommendations to improve the protection of refugees in Europe and beyond.

By participating in the ECRE's European network, Forum réfugiés extends its sphere of involvement into the debate at a European level.

Forum réfugiés is also a member of the French Union for the Right to Asylum (la Coordination française pour le droit d'asile).

Olivier Brachet was appointed to the administrative committee of OFPRA (French Office for the Protection of Refugees and Stateless Persons) in 2004.

Training

In 2003, Forum réfugiés finalised an agreement with the UNHCR aimed at providing training for volunteers helping asylum seekers in the Eastern half of France.

Forum réfugiés also provides training for professionals in various fields who are in regular contact with asylum seekers and refugees.

The international perspective

Because asylum cannot be understood uniquely from the point of view of the host country, and we are convinced that is essential to move beyond a purely national debate on the question...

Because the great majority of refugees do not arrive in Europe...

Because European policy in the area of asylum has consequences beyond the territory of its 27 member-states...

Forum réfugiés has since its creation 25 years ago, looked towards the other end of the chain : the regions of origin and transit of refugees.

Research

In order to better understand the factors that push refugees to flee and in order to acquire the knowledge that will help us to help them in compiling their asylum demands, Forum réfugiés has undertaken missions in Zaire, Turkey, Armenia, Bosnia, Macedonia, Albania, and Kosovo.

Voluntary Return

We also want to be in a position to help those asylum seekers that wish to return voluntarily to their country of origin when that is possible given the situation on the ground and the possibilities of reintegration. For this reason we have undertaken studies and led experimental projects in Romania and Kosovo.

Reinforcing the capacities of civil society

Since 2006, Forum réfugiés has been active in Morocco defending the right to asylum, in partnership with UNHCR:

- 1.Training more than 300 activists from Moroccan and international NGO's and refugee organisations.
- 2.Organising two training programmes for Moroccan lawyers on the rights of foreign citizens and refugees.
- 3.Organising an academic meeting to assess the level of understanding of asylum and immigration issues.
- 4.Publishing an Information booklet for asylum seekers in Morocco available in French, English and Arabic, 2,500 copies of which have been printed.

Resettlement

Forum réfugiés is actively lobbying the French authorities to convince them to start a national resettlement programme.

4 employees from Forum réfugiés can be deployed at any time in the field in resettlement missions in the framework of a partnership with ICMC (International Catholic Migration Commission) and UNHCR.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Franciscans International (FI). FI is a non-governmental organisation (NGO) with General Consultative status at the UN and with the observer status with the African Commission on Human and People's Rights, uniting the voices of Franciscan brothers and sisters from around the world. We operate under the sponsorship of the Conference of the Franciscan Family (CFF) and serve all Franciscans and the global community by bringing spiritual, ethical, and Franciscan values to the United Nations and international organisations. History: 1982 Two Franciscans, a sister from the United States and a friar from Malta, suggest to their respective Justice and Peace Committees the possibilities of having a Franciscan presence at the United Nations. 1984-88 The idea of Franciscans at the UN grows into a common project for members of the Franciscan Family and an interfamilial Preparatory Committee is organized for this future ministry within the United Nations. The Committee prepares a Vision Statement, focusing on three areas of Franciscan work: peacemaking, concern for the poor and care of creation. The Vision Statement is circulated among major superiors in Rome for their endorsement. 1989 The UN Department of Public Information (DPI) officially recognizes Franciscans International as an NGO. 1990 Franciscans International (FI) opens an office in New York and the Committee further develops FI statutes, an organizational structure and a plan for membership. 1991 The Preparatory Committee now serves as the Executive Committee for FI and it begins the process of application for consultative status (Category 1) with the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) of the UN. 1995 FI is approved for NGO Category 1 Status (later called General Consultative Status) with ECOSOC, allowing it to participate through oral interventions and written statements in the activities of ECOSOC. These include: UN World Conferences and their Preparatory Committees, General Assembly special sessions, the UN Commission and Sub-Commission on Human Rights and the committees that monitor states' compliance with specific international treaties. This status gives FI the responsibility to serve as technical experts, advisors and consultants to governments and the UN Secretariat. 1996 To clarify the structures, membership and fundraising of FI, the Conference of the Franciscan Family (CFF) in Rome, including the Ministers General of Friar Minor, Capuchins, Conventuals, Third Order Regular and Secular Franciscan Order and the President of the Inter-Franciscan Conference Third Order Regular, appoints a Working Group to prepare a new organizational "Charter" for FI. 1997 FI, with Dominicans for Justice and Peace, opens an office at the United Nations in Geneva, Switzerland to focus on the promotion and protection of human rights: civil, cultural, economic, political and social rights. 1999 The Conference of the Franciscan Family approves the new "FI Charter" and assumes its role as Sponsor. The CFF appoints thirteen men and women to the new FI Board of Directors. 2000 The FI Board meets twice, in January and November, and it begins to align FI with its new "FI Charter." 2001 The CFF writes a letter to the international Franciscan Family, asking them to participate in and to contribute to the support of FI.

STRUCTURE:

Franciscans International consists of members of franciscan religious congregations of both men and women throughout the world, as well as franciscan lay organizations. It is financed by contributions from these many organizations, known as the Conference of the Franciscan Family. HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Human Rights Watch was founded in 1978 under the name Helsinki Watch to monitor compliance with the human rights provisions of the landmark Helsinki Accords. In the 1980s several other regional committees were formed, including in Africa, Asia and the Americas. These were united in 1988 to form Human Rights Watch.

Human Rights Watch is the largest human rights organization based in the United States. The hallmark of HRW is the even-handedness and accuracy of research and reporting on human rights abuses. To maintain its independence, HRW does not accept financial support from any government or government-funded agency, but depends entirely on contributions from private foundations and from individuals.

STRUCTURE:

Human Rights Watch is based in New York, with offices in Cairo, Brussels, Berlin, Geneva, London, Moscow, Hong Kong, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Tashkent, Toronto, and Washington. In addition, HRW often sets up temporary offices in regions where we're conducting intensive investigations, and our researchers regularly travel to the countries they cover, unless security concerns prevent it. HRW tracks developments in more than 70 countries around the world. We also run thematic programs which focus on particular areas, such as refugee and displacement situations, women's rights, children's rights, HIV/AIDS, and the flow of arms to abusive forces. Other special projects include academic freedom, the human rights responsibilities of corporations, international justice, prisons and drugs.

ACTIVITIES:

Human Rights Watch researchers conduct fact-finding investigations into human rights abuses by governments and non-state actors in all regions of the world. We visit the site of abuses to interview victims, witnesses and others. HRW publishes its findings in dozens of books and reports every year, generating extensive coverage in local and international media. In moments of crisis, we seek to report up-to-the-minute information so as to maximize the impact of our work. HRW seeks dialog with international organisations, governments and non-governmental actors to encourage them to change abusive laws, policies and practices. HISTORY; PURPOSE:

IFMSA was founded in May 1951 and is run for and by medical students on a non-profit basis. It is officially recognized as a Non Governmental Organization (NGO) within the United Nations' and recognized by the World Health Organization as the international forum for medical students.

Mission statement:

"Our mission is to offer future physicians a comprehensive introduction to global health issues. Through our programming and opportunities, we develop culturally sensitive students of medicine, intent on influencing the trans-national inequalities that shape the health of our planet." The International Federation of Medical Students' Associations (IFMSA) is an independent, non-governmental and non-political federation of medical students' associations throughout the world. The

STRUCTURE:

In 2007 IFMSA had 102 National Member Organizations (NMOs) from 100 countries on six continents representing more than 1 million medical students worldwide. IFMSA is a federation which respects the autonomy of its members, the NMOs. The NMOs decide which activities they take part in and what new activities should be developed. IFMSA is structured around six standing committees on; exchange, research exchange, medical education, public health, reproductive health and human rights and peace issues. The decision making body are the NMOs present at the General Assembly; the countries were the two GAs are held are different from year to year. Between the GAs the IFMSA team of officials and the executive board manage the organization. The headquarters are in Ferney Voltaire, France.

ACTIVITIES:

The experiences in the IFMSA show that ideals of a better world are not just illusions; dedication and perseverance can achieve anything. In IFMSA the emphasis is that the students return in their local environment with the ideas and skills to implement them.

True to its foundation, student exchanges remain the backbone of the Federation. Every year IFMSA enables around 7 000 students to experience the practice of medicine in a different culture, within the different IFMSA schemes of exchange. The exchange activities during the last 52 years have created a continuity and atmosphere of stability, in which the organization has been allowed to grow and in which activities have developed also in other fields.

By involvement in Public Health activities, students seek to contribute to the health of the people of the world, both through health education and by directly supportive projects in areas of need.

Through Medical Education activities, IFMSA acts as a forum for medical students to discuss their own education, primarily during the two annual meetings and in separate seminars and conferences. Also aims to further medical education by means of creating a database of medical curricula in the world, also collecting medical books for libraries in the developing countries.

Projects in the field of human Rights and Peace aim to relieve and prevent the medical repercussions of war by advocating disarmament, promoting tolerance, and enhancing the building of peace after a conflict.

Another major focus in IFMSA is Reproductive Health, with the goal of increasing the awareness of the problems related to AIDS and sexually transmitted diseases, both among medical students and the population at large, through workshops, summer-schools, and public educational programs.

All activities of the federation have the ultimate goal of promoting increased awareness of global health and well being, contributing actively to improve intercultural understanding and preventing violent conflicts through the promotion of human rights.

Examples of the activities within the Standing Committee on human Rights and Peace:

Locally: * Arrangement of lectures by guest speakers at universities, libraries or community centers about refugee health, human rights and health or conflict prevention. * Visits to local refugee camps and speaking with local officials, NGOs and refugees about their needs. * Providing personal services to refugees in the community (Preferably in cooperation with other NGOs).

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Founded in 1933, the International Rescue committee is a world leader in relief, rehabilitation, protection, post-conflict development, resettlement services and advocacy for those uprooted or affected by violent conflict and oppression. At work in 25 countries, the IRC delivers lifesaving aid in emergencies, rebuilds shattered communities, cares for war-traumatized children, rehabilitates health care, water and sanitation systems, reunites separated families, restores lost livelihoods, establishes schools, trains teachers, strengthens the capacity of local organizations and institutions, develops civil society and good-governance initiatives and promotes human rights.

For refugees and asylum seekers afforded sanctuary in the US, the IRC offices across the country provide a range of assistance aimed at helping new arrivals get settled, integrate and acquire the skills to become self-sufficient. Committed to restoring dignity and self-reliance, the IRC is a global symbol of hope and renewal for those who have taken flight in search of freedom.

The IRC helps people fleeing racial, religious and ethnic persecution, as well as those uprooted by war and violence. At the outbreak of an emergency, we provide sanctuary and lifesaving assistance: For refugees driven from their homes, we provide emergency assistance: water, food, shelter, sanitation and medical care. We help thousands of refugees resettle in the United States every year. Our 22 offices across the US offer initial placement services including housing; medical exams; enrolling children in schools; orientation including cultural orientation to the community, introduction to public services and public safety. Early employment is the hallmark of the US resettlement program and our offices offer job-readiness training, and job upgrading services in addition to assistance in finding initial employment. English language training, and help in attaining financial literacy. We assist families with family reunification and offer assistance in adjustment of status and obtaining US Citizenship (5 years after arrival). We actively work in communities to educate people on the plight of refugees and to introduce them to the people resettling in their neighborhoods. With the rise of human trafficking we administer an active Anti-trafficking program. We are vocal public policy advocates, calling attention to critical issues affecting refugees around the world.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Founded in 1933, the International Rescue Committee is a world leader in relief, rehabilitation, protection, post-conflict development, resettlement services and advocacy for those uprooted or affected by violent conflict and oppression.

At work in 25 countries, the IRC delivers lifesaving aid in emergencies, rebuilds shattered communities, cares for war-traumatized children, rehabilitates health care, water and sanitation systems, reunites separated families, restores lost livelihoods, establishes schools, trains teachers, strengthens the capacity of local organizations and supports civil society and good-governance initiatives. For refugees afforded sanctuary in the United States, IRC offices across the country provide a range of assistance aimed at helping new arrivals get settled, adjust and acquire the skills to become self-sufficient. Committed to restoring dignity and self-reliance, the IRC is a global symbol of hope and renewal for those who have taken flight in search of freedom.

STRUCTURE:

The International Rescue Committee is governed by a volunteer, unpaid board of directors. In addition, the IRC Overseers provide advice on policy, advocacy, fundraising and public relations.

At any given time, the IRC is on the ground in over 25 countries and active throughout the United States, working with people uprooted by war, civil conflict or ethnic persecution.

ACTIVITIES:

The IRC helps people fleeing racial, religious and ethnic persecution, as well as those uprooted by war and violence. At the outbreak of an emergency, we provide sanctuary and lifesaving assistance: For refugees driven from their homes, we provide emergency assistance: water, food, shelter, sanitation and medical care. Where the emergency has subsided, we enable people to rebuild their lives by providing education, training and economic assistance. We help thousands of refugees resettle in the United States every year, and our offices across the country make sure that all new arrivals receive shelter, food and clothing. We also provide recently arrived refugees with translation services, English-language instruction, job training, employment services and other counseling. Last, but not least, we are vocal public policy advocates, calling attention to critical issues affecting refugees around the world.

Tel: +41 22 733 5123
Fax: +41 22 733 0826

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

The International Service for Human Rights (ISHR) promotes the development, strengthening, effective use and implementation of international and regional law and mechanisms for the protection and promotion of human rights.

It achieves this purpose by:

- empowering individuals, non-governmental organizations, national human rights institutions and international and regional human rights systems, in particular through the provision of information and training;
- monitoring, reporting on and promoting human rights discussions and debates and the development of international and regional law and mechanisms for the protection and promotion of human rights; and
- promoting the effective protection of human rights defenders.

ISHR was established in 1984 by members of various non-governmental organizations in Geneva. For 20 years, it has given human rights defenders from around the world information, training and support. Today, through its offices in Geneva and New York and its worldwide network of human rights activists, it offers:

- analytical reports on the UN and other international and regional human rights mechanisms;
- training on how to use the international and regional norms and procedures;
- strategic advice for effective lobbying;
- contributions to standard-setting; and
- practical information and logistical support to enable human rights defenders to take full advantage of international human rights law and procedures.

ISHR does not generally campaign on country or individual cases but through its work helps human rights defenders take more effective action to protect and promote human rights in their own countries, regionally and internationally.

STRUCTURE:

The ISHR has three operational units: Education and Training, Information; and a Human Rights Defenders Office. ISHR has 15 staff and at different times up to 10 interns working in offices in New York and Geneva.

The policy-making body of ISHR, which oversees the work of the Secretariat, is the Board. The Board is elected by the General Meeting of the international association. A larger and active Advisory Council is also elected by the General Meeting.

As provided for in the statutes of the international association of ISHR, the General Meeting defines the main orientation of the organization.

The Board, elected by the General Meeting, defines priorities and the programme of action. It also reviews the work of the Secretariat.

It meets at least twice a year. The Board is assisted by 25 experts of the Advisory Council. The Board and the Secretariat call upon them for advice on policy, programmes and projects. Members of the Advisory Council are also invited to provide training in the courses and workshops of ISHR.

ACTIVITIES:

Information Programme, Education and Training Programme, Human Rights Defenders Office (HRD).

The work of the International Service for Human Rights (ISHR) is to empower and protect human rights defenders in implementing human rights in their respective countries. This is done through four units, namely: the Information Unit; the Education and Training Unit; the Human Rights Defenders Office (HRDO); and the Planning and Administration Unit.

Information Programme

The aim of the Information Unit is to produce, publish and distribute throughout the world analytical information on UN meetings and procedures and to explain the use of international procedures. Since few NGOs can afford to attend human rights meetings held by the UN in Geneva or New York, the Information Unit helps enable human rights defenders to follow the deliberations and initiatives of intergovernmental organizations from a distance.

To implement its mandate, the Information Unit monitors key human rights and other relevant meetings and produces a variety of publications, such as the "Human Rights Monitor"; the "HR-Documentation-DH"; the "HR-Dossiers-DH"; and human rights manuals.

Education and Training Programme

The Education and Training Unit seeks to empower human right defenders worldwide to make effective use of the UN human rights procedures.

Training activities include courses, workshops and lectures on international human rights law and the effective use of international human rights procedures, principally in the UN, but also in other intergovernmental and regional bodies. The main training course - the annual "Advanced Geneva Training Course in International Human Rights Law and Advocacy" (AGTC) - on international human rights law and procedures is held in Geneva for four weeks through March and April, and coincides with the annual session of the Commission on Human Rights. The Education and Training Unit trains approximately 30 active members of grassroots, regional human rights organizations.

More than 350 human rights defenders, primarily from the South have participated in this course. Training sessions are also co-organized with local, regional and national NGOs in the regions for human rights activists. The sessions cover international, regional and national human rights mechanisms. Annually ISHR holds a minimum of six training sessions in the South. Recent courses have been held in the Gambia, Indonesia, India, Thailand, Turkey and the USA.

Human Rights Defenders Office (HRDO)

HRDO was created in October 2000 to actively protect human rights defenders. Its work focuses on:

- providing advice on and facilitating access to international human rights mechanisms that protect the rights of human rights defenders, in particular the mandate and work of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General on human rights defenders;
- promoting the development of regional and sub-regional protection mechanisms;
- disseminating information on practical means to enhance the protection of human rights defenders;
- developing analytical studies on issues related to the protection of human rights defenders;
- organizing seminars and other events to enable human rights defenders (including the Special Representative on human rights defenders and other relevant universal or regional protection mechanisms) to analyze the dangers and obstacles to their work and find appropriate solutions;
- promoting the development, supporting and strengthening networks of human rights defenders and NGOs at local, regional and international levels.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Lawyers for Human Rights is a non-governmental, non-profit organisation whose vision is to be:

- a leading, effective human rights and constitutional watchdog and advocate,
- an international force in the development and delivery of human rights, with a primary focus in Africa,
- a primary contributor to clear strategic policy on the delivery of socio-economic rights for the disadvantaged.

To this end, LHR strives to promote awareness, protection and enforcement of legal and human rights through the creation of a human rights culture.

Started in 1979, LHR rapidly achieved a proud record of fighting oppression and abuse of human rights under apartheid. LHR later helped usher in the transition to democracy through its voter education and monitoring in 1994. Today it is recognised as being in the vanguard of civil society in our emerging democracy.

STRUCTURE:

Established in 1996 the LHR Refugee and Migrant Rights Project is a specialist programme that advocates, strengthens and enforces the rights of asylum seekers, refugees and other marginalised categories of migrants in South Africa.

The project team consists of 8 lawyers, a social worker, two paralegals and 2 administrators who operate from the project's legal advice offices in Johannesburg, Pretoria, Durban and Port Elizabeth.

The project provides free legal services to indigent asylum seekers, refugees and migrant clients. Litigation is used as a tool to advance our client's rights and to develop African jurisprudence in the field of refugee and immigration law. The project's litigation programme focuses on impact litigation with precedent-setting value.

LHR also undertakes vigorous detention monitoring which documents the human rights abuses suffered by migrants in the detention and deportation process, and advocates for policy reform. Legal assistance is also given to those who have been unlawfully arrested and who are at risk of deportation. LHR is also an active member of the International Detention Coalition.

ACTIVITIES:

- The provision of legal assistance to refugees, asylum seekers and other migrants is one of our core activities. We are a UNHCR implementing partner and have been for several years.
- Advocacy and lobbying with national and local government and the media
- We employ litigation as a strategic tool where efforts in other areas have not been successful
- Training of NGO and government officials: Understanding that humane laws and policies do not always automatically translate into humane law enforcement, the project has developed training programmes for government employees who work directly with refugees and immigrants. LHR regularly undertakes training of social workers, police officers and refugee communities on the rights and needs of refugees and migrants

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

The Lutheran World Federation (LWF) is a global communion of Christian churches in the Lutheran tradition. Founded in 1947 in Lund, Sweden. At that time, the LWF began serving those in need, primarily Lutheran refugees who had been displaced as a result of World War II. Through more than five decades, assistance to refugees, internally displaced persons and those affected by disasters has continued as a major emphasis. The Department for World Service (DWS) is the internationally recognized humanitarian and development agency of the Lutheran World Federation (LWF) working with marginalized and disadvantaged communities in the areas of greatest vulnerability and endemic need. In these efforts, DWS cooperates within global networks that include ecumenical, governmental and non-governmental partners.

STRUCTURE:

The LWF now has 140 member churches in 78 countries all over the world representing about 60 million Christians. Around 70 staff members from 20 different countries are based in the LWF Geneva headquarters, working in the various departments and units that provide support and services vital to the continuation of the Federation's work. Furthermore some 60 international staff members are engaged in the service programs implemented by the Department for World Service (LWF/DWS). DWS works in 37 countries through four regional, 15 country and seven associate programs and emergency operations, providing the operational means for humanitarian assistance and implementing development strategies throughout Africa, Asia, the Middle East, Central and Latin America as well as the Balkans.

These programs are aimed at assisting victims of natural and human-made disasters to survive, recover and restore their lives, rights, dignity and self-reliance. The international field staff work alongside 5,800 local staff.

ACTIVITIES:

The DWS organization and staff within the LWF secretariat in Geneva provide the infrastructure and relationships to enable planning, coordination and accountability for the effective and efficient program management of humanitarian and diaconic work. On behalf of the partnership network and local communities, the functions of DWS Geneva include the formulation of policy and strategic direction for approval by the Standing Committee for World Service; overall management, administration and fundraising in relation to the country programs; and coordination of efforts in the following designated focus areas:

Emergencies, Refugees and Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs)

Sustainable Development and the Environment

Advocacy and Communications Human Resources Development

Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation DWS works closely with other humanitarian organizations in carrying out its work and bringing its experience into public policy debate. It gives particular attention to its relationships as founding member of the Steering Committee for Humanitarian Response (SCHR), and the International Council of Voluntary Agencies (ICVA).

As a member of SCHR, DWS is also part of the management committee of the SPHERE Project (Humanitarian Charter and Minimum Standards in Humanitarian Response). DWS has long enjoyed a partnership relationship with UN agencies involved in humanitarian response, especially UNHCR, WFP, UNICEF and UNDP as well as OCHA and through the SCHR, the UN Interagency Standing Committee. The depth of these partnerships is reflected in the fact that DWS is the second largest operational partner of UNHCR.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Born as a facilitating group in support of the peace movement in India, particularly during the Third Joint Conference of the Pakistan-India People's Forum for Peace and Democracy - an unprecedented public gathering of 400 peace activists of the sub-continent for 4 days in Calcutta in 1996 - the Mahanirban Calcutta Research Group is now known as the Calcutta Research Group (CRG) specialised in research, dialogue and advocacy on issues of human rights, justice and peace. The founders were a group of researchers, trade unionists, feminist thinkers and women's rights campaigners, academics, journalists, and lawyers. Developing as a forum of mostly young public activists and socially committed researchers, CRG is now well-known for its research, dialogues, and advocacy work.

It has carved out a niche for itself in the scholar-activist world for its policy studies on autonomy, human rights, women's dignity, issues of forced displacement and migration, peace and conflict resolution, citizenship, borders and border-conflicts, and other themes relevant to democracy. The emphasis that CRG places on the issue of forced migration in its research and dialogues has now resulted in a strong network of scholars, activists, and institutions in the region.

While pursuing its researches, dialogues and advocacy programmes CRG has been successful in bringing together a group of like-minded scholars and academics and maintaining the distinctive group character. With the kind of research outputs to its credit and the database accumulated over the years on the subject of its focus, it can truly claim itself to be a resource centre only of its kind in the east and the northeast. CRG has been functioning with enviable track record beyond the established system of higher education in the country.

In Calcutta it is again the only platform of eminent intellectuals and dynamic young researchers working on policies and issues of peace, conflict resolution, human rights, and democracy.

HISTORY; MISSION:

NRC has a 60-year-old tradition of assisting refugees in Norway and internationally, which began after the first World War with the efforts of Fridtjof Nansen in 1946 and his outstanding efforts to assist people in need. In 1947 several Norwegian voluntary organisations joined forces and established an umbrella organisation, which in 1953 was named the Norwegian Refugee Council. NRC assisted refugees in European countries and those who came to Norway.

The Norwegian Refugee Council (NRC) is today one of the leading Norwegian humanitarian organisations working internationally, and the only one focusing solely on refugees, returnees and IDPs. NRC has a solid international standing through its operations in the field, the secondment of personnel to inter-governmental agencies and its advocacy work. The last 20 years NRC's main focus has been on international refugee work, gradually broadened to include the growing number of conflict induced internally displaced persons.

STRUCTURE:

NRC is a foundation, after having previously been an association. Its supreme body is the Board, which consists of seven persons with wide experience from areas of importance to the work of the organisation. Day-to-day management is vested in the Secretary General. The head office, with a staff of about 65, is in central Oslo and headed by the Secretary General, Mr. Tomas Colin Archer. NRC has a liaison office in Geneva headed by a Resident Representative, Ms Elisabeth Rasmussen.

NRC also has more than 1,300 employees in more than 20 country offices worldwide.

The annual turnover exceeded for the second time NOK 400 million.

ACTIVITIES:

- Operative efforts – currently in 14 program countries in four continents of the world. Within its program activities NRC has chosen to focus its efforts around four key elements – distribution, education, shelter and legal aid, information and counselling. Specializing in these areas will further strengthen the quality of the program activities, and enable the organization to react even faster when acute crises occur.
- Advocacy to strengthen the protection of refugees and internally displaced persons. Being a spokesman for the rights of refugees and internally displaced persons is essential in the activities of the NRC. Advocacy plays an integral part in program activities, and likewise, major efforts are made on an international level and in regards to specific countries' authorities to advance the protection of displaced people.

• Secondment of personnel from the emergency preparedness rosters. The NRC administers three emergency preparedness rosters, NORSTAFF, NORDEM and NORAFRIC. The profiles of the rosters are continually adapted to meet the recipient organizations' needs for qualified personnel, necessitating training of roster members on a regular basis.

The Internal Displacement Monitoring Centre (IDMC), originally named the Global IDP Project, was established by NRC in 1996 and was mandated by the Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC) to set up an IDP database in 1998. The Geneva-based project evolved into the leading international body monitoring internal displacement in over 50 countries worldwide. It has also broadened its activities to the collection and analysis of IDP-related information, advocacy for the rights of the displaced, and training on IDP protection. The database and further information on the centre can be found at www.internal-displacement.org.

NRC is a member of the International Council of Voluntary Agencies (ICVA) and the European Council on Refugees and Exiles (ECRE). NRC has ECOSOC accreditation since 2000.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

NRC's overall objective is to work towards the improvement of international protection and humanitarian aid to refugees and people displaced within their own countries. NRC is the only Norwegian humanitarian organization that specializes in the protection of displaced persons.

The great majority of the conflicts that are fought in the world today are internal conflicts, but frequently foreign interests are in place, lending support to one or more of the groups. The conflicts have resulted in incomprehensible human suffering, and nearly 40 million people are currently displaced due to war and injustice. As opposed to during earlier times, the majority of people who have fled are displaced within their own countries. Since they have not crossed any borders, the UN Refugee Convention does not protect them.

Even though the world has changed, and the actual programs are regularly adapted to meet new challenges, NRC bases its efforts on the same basic principles they have always done. Assistance is rendered regardless of race, religion, nationality and political views. All efforts are based on the same underlying concept: All human beings have the right to a life in peace, liberty, safety and dignity, and all human beings who are forced to leave their homes have the right to receive help and protection and assistance to return home.

NRC's most important resource is the knowledge that has been accumulated through 55 years of working for displaced people throughout the world. NRC is well aware that a long time may pass before the effect of the efforts can be seen, and that problems and conflicts may never completely be solved. On the other hand, everyone involved experiences great satisfaction when the help reaches its destination, and are able to witness people returning to their homes and start the reconstruction of a society, which hopefully can be founded on peace, liberty, safety and equality.

STRUCTURE:

Currently, NRC executes programs in over 20 countries in many parts of the world. The program activities are concentrated on four key activities.

- Distribution
- Legal aid, information and counselling
- Education
- Shelter

-By being specialized, the quality of the programs are strengthened, while it enables NRC to react even faster during emergencies

ACTIVITIES:

The Global IDP Project of the Norwegian Refugee Council is an international non-governmental body working for better protection and assistance of people who have been displaced within their own country by conflict or because of human rights violations. The Project, which is funded by a variety of international donors, aims to help improve the response to the needs of, and increase respect for, the rights of millions of the world's most disadvantaged and vulnerable people. It seeks to find solutions that ultimately lead to their safe return or resettlement and reintegration.

In pursuit of this goal, the Project monitors internal displacement worldwide, as mandated by the United Nations, and makes relevant information and analysis available to decision-makers, humanitarian practitioners and the general public. In doing so, the Project seeks to enable key actors at the international, national and local levels to make timely and informed decisions on responses to the needs and rights of internally displaced people (IDPs), in line with international standards such as the Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement.

Through its work, the Global IDP Project strives to raise awareness of the plight of internally displaced people and advocate, on their behalf, for durable solutions based on the Guiding Principles. It aims at strengthening local capacity to effectively address internal displacement by organising training workshops which bring together government officials, local authorities, security forces, aid workers and IDP communities.

In the realisation of this objective we are inspired by the definition of health as presented by the World Health Organisation (WHO): "Health is a state of complete physical, mental and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity". Pharos concentrates on developing, studying and conveying knowledge in the field of health and healthcare for refugees. In this, refugees' strength is of primary importance.

STRUCTURE:

As a part of this specific multidisciplinary approach, Pharos develops knowledge and methods for mental health care, care for asylum seekers, primary healthcare and youth services. A group of specialists has been assembled to deal with these research, development and training areas: The transparent structure shows what Pharos is – a centre of expertise that conducts research, develops new methods for providing assistance, sets up prevention and information activities and designs training programmes, collects and disseminates information, all of which are based on daily practice.

quality of post-primary education for refugees, returnees and the internally displaced. The RET is an independent, impartial, non-partisan organisation, with no religious or political affiliation, purposefully set up to be independent from UNHCR. Although financially independent from UN agencies, we have strategic alliances with both UNHCR and UNESCO - IBE, and welcome other opportunities to deliver our mission with greater strength and magnitude.

"We, at the Foundation for the Refugee Education Trust, believe that all adolescent youth have the equal human right to education. We are committed to; facilitating and promoting international cooperation in post-primary education for refugee youth, advancing human dignity, achievement, and self-reliance, serving as a resource and advocate for innovative approaches in post-primary education for refugee youth.

It is also our commitment to ensure equal access to post-primary education for all refugee youth, including girls and those with special needs. We are driven to expand education and understanding of conflict prevention, reconciliation, social harmonisation and integration, in an effort to encourage reconstruction and repatriation.

The Refugee Studies Centre (RSC) is based in the University of Oxford's Department of International Development. The Centre was established in 1982 as a multidisciplinary centre for research and teaching on the causes and consequences of forced migration, with an emphasis on understanding the experiences of those affected. The RSC provides a range of study and learning opportunities (MSc in Forced Migration, International Summer School, short courses and visiting fellowships); and undertakes a number of dissemination/outreach activities (workshops, conferences, publications). The Centre also prioritises the dissemination of its scholarship and engages in a broad range of activities designed to inform and enhance humanitarian policy, institutional practice and academic debate.

STRUCTURE:

The Refugee Studies Centre has 32 members of staff and is located in Oxford, UK.

ACTIVITIES:

Research at the RSC is both multidisciplinary and inclusive. We collaborate with institutions in the developing world and draw upon the knowledge and experiences of both practitioners and forced migrants themselves. Research is organised around three broad analytical areas: Forced Migration, Global Economy and Governance; the Experience and Management of Displacement in Conflict Situations; and Institutional and Normative Responses to Forced Migration. The RSC's two main vehicles for information sharing with the wider humanitarian community are the RSC's in-house publication, Forced Migration Review (FMR), and its web-based portal Forced Migration Online (FMO). Forced Migration Review FMR is the world's most widely read journal on international refugee and displacement issues. Concise jargon-free articles by practitioners, researchers and displaced people present key issues, lessons learned and policy recommendations. FMR works in close collaboration with a range of UN and other humanitarian agencies to promote wider public knowledge of and respect for the UN Refugee Convention and the Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement. Published in English, Arabic, Spanish and French, it is distributed without charge to a global readership of over 13,000 organisations and individuals. All issues are also freely available online. www.fmreview.org fmr@qeh.ox.ac.uk Forced Migration Online FMO is a web-based portal, providing free access to a comprehensive collection information and resources on human displacement issues to an international community of users. Its range of resources include a digital library, access to back issues of leading journals, thematic and country-specific research guides, a directory of key organisations and an expanding multimedia section of images, podcasts and videos. FMO's expanding archive comprises over 200,000 pages of documents, many of them rare or unique, freely available for viewing, downloading and printing. www.forcedmigration.org fmo@qeh.ox.ac.uk RSC Research and Policy Linkages In addition, the RSC is currently engaging in a range of activities that will further enhance linkages with policy makers and practitioners. A Senior Policy Officer is promoting evidence-based policy development by coordinating policy-relevant research, helping to identify the practical implications of lessons learned from ongoing research and improving the dissemination of these outputs to key decision makers. www.rsc.ox.ac.uk rsc@qeh.ox.ac.uk

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Refugees International generates lifesaving humanitarian assistance and protection for displaced people around the world and works to end the conditions that create displacement. RI acts first and foremost as a witness to the suffering of the displaced. RI advocates spend weeks in the field interviewing and meeting with war-affected populations, non-governmental organizations and aid agencies. RI advocates assess humanitarian problems, identify the most urgent needs and move quickly to develop immediate solutions to those needs. RI's contribution to the humanitarian field lies in its unique combination of advocacy and action, both with hands-on expertise in crisis situations and with policymakers in Washington, New York, Geneva and other centres. Refugees International conducted field assessments in over 30 countries in 2006 - 2007. Recent missions have included Kuwait, Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, Liberia, Sudan, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Central African Republic, Chad, Cambodia, and Colombia. RI describes the impact of its work with a single word-leverage. RI's advocacy generates increases in resources and policy changes by governments and UN agencies that improve conditions for refugees and displaced people. RI does not accept any government or UN funding. Rather, RI leverages donations from individuals, foundations and corporations into hundreds of thousands of dollars of lifesaving assistance and protection. This, along with its early warning/early action mandate, allows RI to be a powerful, respected and unfettered voice.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

Save the Children is the leading independent organization creating real and lasting change for children in need in the United States and around the world. It is a member of the International Save the Children Alliance, comprising 28 national Save the Children organizations working in more than 110 countries to ensure the well-being of children. The history of Save the Children is a story of positive change and people — millions of people in thousands of communities around the globe — working together to create opportunities for the world's children to live safe, healthy and fulfilling lives. In January 1932 in a small room in New York City, a group of concerned citizens gathered to respond to the needs of the proud people of Appalachia hard hit by the Great Depression. The inspiration and vision for Save the Children came in part from the international children's rights movement begun in England in 1919 by Eglantyne Jebb, founder of the British Save the Children Fund. From this early effort in the hills and hollows of Harlan County, Kentucky grew a self-help philosophy and practice still at work today in more than 45 countries — providing communities with a hand up, not a handout.

This approach — working with families to define and solve the problems their children and communities face and utilizing a broad array of strategies to ensure self-sufficiency is the cornerstone of all Save the Children's programs. Through the decades, we have evolved into a leading international relief and development organization. Countless events and achievements have shaped the development of our organization and helped change the lives of the children we serve.

STRUCTURE:

SC-USA works in 19 states across the United States as well as in over 40 countries in the developing world. It has some 3,000 staff worldwide. SC-USA's headquarters is in Westport, Connecticut

ACTIVITIES:

In the United States, Save the Children helps children in remote, rural communities improve their reading skills and maintain healthy lifestyles. Working with schools, childcare centers and community groups, we have established programs in literacy, nutrition and physical activities from Appalachia to California's Central Valley. In developing countries, Save the Children engages children, families and communities in our problem-solving approach and provides them with the necessary knowledge and resources to become self sustaining. Health - Through our global network of country offices and health professionals, we work in partnership with MOH, local and international NGOs and donors to improve the quality, availability, and use of key health practices and services. Our priority program areas include newborn and child health and survival, reproductive health, HIV/AIDS and school health and nutrition. Education - Save the Children brings together parents, children and governments to create opportunities for children to learn to read, write, solve problems and develop their unique potential. There are many obstacles to education in impoverished communities, but our experience shows that with knowledge and minimal investment, each community can find solutions and ways to educate its children. Economic Opportunities - Our programs focus on gender equality and empowerment, and sustainability. Our philosophy is simple but effective: help women help themselves economically and there is a measurable, positive impact on children. Hunger and Malnutrition - Save the Children addresses the root causes of food insecurity, targeting the most vulnerable - young children and their mothers. We work with children and their communities to develop their capacity to respond to and solve their most pressing food security problems. Food aid and monetary resources are used to manage programs focused on improving agricultural production and household nutrition, as well as responding to emergency needs. Protection - Our Protection staff operates in a variety of settings, working with governments and NGO partners to create policy and programmatic changes to enhance the protection of vulnerable children. Key interventions include psychosocial wellbeing, community networks for protection, education programs in emergencies, creating safe spaces, anti-trafficking programming, developing national protection policies and child welfare reform, community mobilization and child-to-child interventions. In natural disasters, war and conflict, our rapid response teams provide food, medical services and shelter to those affected. Pre-positioning of emergency stocks such as plastic sheeting, household and hygiene kits, portable water containers and shelter repair materials allows Save the Children to provide essential life saving resources immediately to crisis-affected vulnerable children and their families. We are also focusing on emergency preparedness at the country level to improve emergency response by organizing and strengthening their capacity to deliver timely and effective relief and assistance. Over 100,000 sponsors support children from 3-18 years by meeting their needs at key stages of their physical and intellectual development. More than 30,000 Save the Children Action Network members advocate for children, generating grassroots support for national legislation affecting children in need.

Save the Children was founded in 1919, as a response to conditions in Europe immediately following the First World War.

Save the Children works in the UK and across the world.

Emergency relief runs alongside long-term development and prevention work to help children, their families and communities to be self-sufficient. We gain expertise through our projects around the world and use that knowledge to educate and advise others.

The organization was first established at the very entry point of refugees fleeing from the Horn of Africa, at the coastal areas of Bir Ali/Yemen, during the peak in the exodus. It was this need to meet the human crisis facing the refugees on arrival and to relieve its impact on the local populations that prompted the initiation of this organization in the first place. At present SHS is a key factor in the link between UNHCR/other donors and the local authorities in major operation areas. We made several efforts to enlighten the authorities on UNHCR mandate, refugee needs and possible solutions.
- SHS has also played important role in fund-raising for the local population in refugee affected areas. Example is the donation obtained from the Japanese embassy for the construction of a water reservoir to alleviate the shortage of water in the villages, which was the major cause of friction and problem between UNHCR/Refugees and the local villagers. We have also brought in the Emirate Red Crescent and local donors to donate relief items worth thousands of dollars once a year (since 2000). HISTORY; PURPOSE:

The Sphere Project represents a unique international voluntary initiative aimed at improving the effectiveness and accountability of humanitarian assistance. The initiative was launched in 1997 by a group of humanitarian NGOs and the Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement, who framed a Humanitarian Charter, based on international treaties and conventions, and identified Minimum Standards to be attained in disaster assistance in each of five key sectors (water supply and sanitation, nutrition, food aid, shelter and health services). Taken together, the Humanitarian Charter and the Minimum Standards contribute to an operational framework for accountability in disaster assistance efforts. The Sphere Project reflects the collective will and shared experience of a broad array of humanitarian actors. The people who participated in compiling the first edition of the Sphere Handbook in 2000, and those involved in its revision in 2004, were drawn from national and international Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs), the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement, United Nations agencies and academic institutions. Thousands of individuals, from over 400 organisations and 80 countries, have participated in various aspects of the Sphere Project, from developing the Handbook through to piloting and training. Since its inception the Sphere process has endeavored to be inclusive, transparent, and globally representative. It has developed based on its two core beliefs: first, that all possible steps should be taken to alleviate human suffering arising out of calamity and conflict, and second, that those affected by disaster have a right to life with dignity and therefore a right to assistance. In brief, Sphere can be identified as three things: a handbook, a broad process of collaboration, and an expression of commitment to quality and accountability in humanitarian assistance.

STRUCTURE:

The Sphere Project is governed by a Board, which meets 2-3 times per year, consisting of 16 humanitarian organizations who each contribute to the core activities of the Project, including the operation and maintenance of the Sphere office. Additional program activities are supported through financial contributions from the wider international community. The Sphere office has 5 staff persons - Project Manager, Knowledge adn Information Management Senior Officer, Training and Materials Senior Officer, Administration and Finance Senior Assistant and Training, Materials and Website Support Senior Assistant - and is hosted by the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (IFRC) in Geneva, Switzerland.

ACTIVITIES:

Training of Trainer (ToT) courses; engagement with the UN agencies bilaterally and through the Cluster process; development of e-learning and other tools; inter-action with other quality and accountability initiatives.

The Sphere Project was launched in 1997 by a group of humanitarian NGOs and the Red Cross and Red Crescent movement.

Sphere is based on two core beliefs: first, that all possible steps should be taken to alleviate human suffering arising out of calamity and conflict, and second, that those affected by disaster have a right to life with dignity and therefore a right to assistance.

Sphere is three things: a handbook, a broad process of collaboration and an expression of commitment to quality and accountability. The project has developed several tools, the key one being the handbook. Visit the sections below for more information!

HISTORY, PURPOSE:

The Sudan Health Association (SUHA) is a non-profitable Sudanese Indigenous Non-Governmental Organization (SINGO) formed by a group of sudanese doctors, nurses and social workers in 1995 and got registered on the 11th October of the same year with the Kenyan Government. It later got registered with the Sudan Relief and Rehabilitation Commission (then SRRA) on the 10th of August 2000.

The mission of the Sudan Health Association is the "Improvement of life through the provision of quality, affordable and accessible health and other services to all beneficiaries, especially the disadvantaged groups, to ensure that they live a healthy and productive life".

STRUCTURE:

The Sudan Health Association has its main office based in the field in KajoKeji County, Central Equatoria State, South Sudan since June 1997. It has another field-based office in Kagwada- half way between Juba and Yei also in South Sudan- extended after the CPA was signed between the GoS and the SPLM/A. The locations of these offices bring SUHA close to the real and genuine beneficiaries for whom its services are intended. For the purpose of co-ordinating with donors and other outside partners, SUHA maintains a liaison office in Kampala, Uganda. It closed its office in Nairobi, Kenya for the practical reason of facilitating coordination with the line Ministries, the GoSS Authorities and other relevant bodies in Sudan after the signing of the CPA. In the county of Kajo-Keji, SUHA supports a number of health facilities that include 12 primary health care units (PHCUs) - Kigwo, Moijo, Gurujo, Mere, Romogi, Mondikolok, Longira, Kudaji, Mogiri, Lori, Jondale and Rodo, and 3 primary health care centers (PHCCs) - Jalimo, Lire and Kansuk. In Juba County, they include 1 PHCC - Ganji, and 8PHCUs - Maremo, Gwadiang, Kelang, Karpeto, Pager, Kagwada, Kulipapa and Kworjik Bungu. SUHA also runs a health workers training school in Kajo-Keji County.

All patients that present to these units and may need referral, are referred to the health centers. The health centers then refer its patients (if any for referral) to the main hospital in the county. Each PHCU has 2 community health workers (CHWs), 2 mother and child health workers (MCHWs), and 1 guard. The key staff currently in the PHCCs include 1 clinical officer, 1 nurse, 1 midwife, 2 auxiliary nurses, 2 MHCWs, 1 registration clerk, 3 cleaners, 3 guards.

There are also personnel teaching in the health workers training school. They include 4 full time tutors and 3 part time ones. SUHA has a board of directors and a general assembly that meet once a year. Its daily functions are run by the executive body headed by its executive Director.

In total, SUHA has about 9 administrative staff in both its programs in Kajo-Keji and Juba Counties. It has 80 health workers working in the 20 PHCUs and 28 health workers in the 4 PHCCs in both Juba and Kajo-Keji Counties, 7 training school tutors, and 73 support staff that include 37 guards, 22 cleaners, 9 cooks and 5 drivers.

ACTIVITIES:

The Sudan Health Association mainly deals with the provision of primary health care services (PHC). This includes preventive, promotive and curative health services. In the primary health care units (PHCUs), the emphasis is on the preventive and promotive aspects of the services, and this seriously takes into account health education and immunization of mothers and children, with UNICEF and the Ministry of Health providing the necessary equipment and vaccines. The curative aspect takes a limited role meant only to care for simple cases that are within the capacity of the M/CHWs to deal with, and this includes such services as the provision of treatment for obvious and clinically diagnosed cases. Health workers such as the MCHWs and the traditional birth attendants (TBAs) also carry out assisted deliveries for pregnant women with normal delivery cases. All cases that are beyond the knowledge of the health workers at the level of the PHCU are referred for care in the PHCCs, where some secondary health care services are provided, where UNICEF and the Ministry of health also provide drugs and other medical supplies.

SUHA also provides capacity building (nine-month basic training course) to all the workers at the level of PHCUs to ensure that the beneficiaries access quality and affordable health care services in all the areas covered by its operation. This training is not only limited to health workers working in the health facilities supported by SUHA. It is also open to any agency providing the same health services in the region that may need to carry out training for its health workers. So far (from 2001 to 2006) 149 CHW trainees have been trained by SUHA and are now working in various health facilities in parts of South Sudan. They have been sponsored by agencies that include UNICEF, UNHCR and GOAL. Those trained to work in the health facilities of SUHA have been sponsored by funds from UNHCR and OFDA/USAID. Currently (2007) there are 46 students undergoing the same training. They include 8 students sponsored for SUHA by UNHCR, 30 sponsored for 5 counties in Central Equatorial by UNICEF, 6 sponsored for Galwak in Malakal by the International Medical Corps (IMC), and 2 self-sponsored ones for the County Health Department (CHD) in Kajo-Keji.

Another aspect of training that SUHA is carrying out takes a dimension that includes both the health workers and members of the community. This is supported by the World Food Program (WFP) where SUHA gets food for training (FFT). Administrative staff and Health workers organize sessions of training for community members on selected health topics and other topics related to community mobilization on matters related to health that include mobilization of women and children for immunization etc.

The Sudan Health Association has been one of the implementing partners for the UNHCR South Sudan program of repatriation and reintegration of refugees following the signing of the CPA. This has been done through the provision of the necessary health services that the returnees require when they return from exile to their places of origin in South Sudan. Kajo-Keji, where SUHA is operating, has been identified as a major refugee corridor among other areas in South Sudan. As a pull factor for the refugees to come home, SUHA constructed a number of health facilities that included 3PHCCs and 12 PHCUs. Among these, 11 of them (10 PHCUs and 1 PHCC) were funded by UNHCR. SUHA also got a number of health equipment such as delivery beds, microscopes etc including furniture from UNHCR for running these health facilities. Vehicle, computer, generator, reference and other training materials, IEC materials are part of the support from UNHCR for running the program.

In Juba County besides running health care services in the health facilities, SUHA is currently involved in the delivery of water and sanitation services that include the construction of protected shallow wells, the repair of bore holes, and carrying out campaigns for community members to construct household pit latrines. This is calculated to provide services that the returnee population needs to come home. UNHCR has also started repatriating returnees to areas in Juba and so the need for these services. SUHA program in Juba County is funded by UNDP under the Recovery and Rehabilitation Program (RRP) where SUHA is part of six other agencies working as a consortium.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

A brief history of Tzu Chi On April 14, 1966, Venerable Master Cheng Yen founded the Tzu Chi Merits Society in Hualien, Taiwan.

The fledgling Tzu Chi Merits Society, with the support of only thirty housewives who set aside NT fifty cents (USD 0.013) of their grocery money each day, established a charity fund to provide relief and assistance for the poor. Within its first 5 years, the Tzu Chi Merits Society helped 15 families, serving a total of 31 elderly and ailing impoverished people. Support and participation for the program grew as word about compassion and relief spread beyond Hualien.

The program gathered strength in numbers and drew support from other parts of Taiwan and its nearby islands to eventually form the Compassion Relief Tzu Chi Foundation millions of volunteers partake in today. A heart filled with kindness, compassion, joy and unselfish giving inspires the ideals of Tzu Chi. For over 30 years Tzu Chi has concentrated its four missions in Charity, Medicine, Education and Culture. Over the decades, Tzu Chi has expanded its volunteer activities to include environmental conservation, bone marrow donation, and international disaster relief. Our Objectives-Purity in our minds, Peace in the society, and a disaster-free world Our Principles-Kindness, Compassion, Joy and Giving through helping the poor and educating the rich.

Our Missions-As Tzu Chi enters its thirty-seven year, every inch of path Tzu Chi members have traveled has been paved with love.

Tzu Chi's four missions are a network of universal love. We work in missions of charity, medicine, education and culture with the spirit of sincerity, integrity, trust and honesty. We believe in the equality of all beings and the Buddha-nature potential in every person.

Through charitable hearts, the privileges obtain blessings and joy, and the impoverished receive security and peace.

Tzu Chi members strive to bring forth the pure world Tzu Chi envisions; a world without suffering and obtained through love, compassion, joy and selfless giving. We invite all people in their goodwill to join us in purifying our minds, pacifying our society and working towards a disaster-free world.

STRUCTURE:

Today our non-profit organization has over four million supporters, with having 184 Tzu Chi Chapters or operation offices in 32 countries worldwide, by providing our services to over 61 countries. The global headquarters for Tzu Chi still remains in its origin of Hualien, Taiwan.

In Malaysia, there are 3 Tzu Chi Chapters hosting a total of 31 offices, 2 free clinics, 1 hemodialysis center and 3 kindergartens across the country.

ACTIVITIES:

Charity Mission In 1966, Tzu Chi began to reach out to others with charity work. Now, after more than 40 years, as the major foundation of Tzu Chi missions, Tzu Chi has expanded from 30 members in Hualien to hundreds of thousands of volunteers all over the world by contributing their service in term of - Home visit & Living Aids, Long Term Assistance, Emergency Relief, Mobile Clinics, Medical Assistance & Institutional Care. Tzu Chi Medical Mission From the beginning of the 1st Tzu Chi hospital in HuaLian, Taiwan, 1986, Tzu Chi has moved forward in Medical mission by having another 5 hospitals in Taiwan, several numbers of free clinics, mobile clinic worldwide.

To enhance the medical service to the needs, TIMA (TzuChi International Medical Association) was formed by the medical staffs to provide international disaster relief. In October 1993, The Tzu Chi Marrow Donor Registry was launched by the period of three years, the registry was able to collect data on more than 140,000 volunteer donors, a world speed record. When we look back at this miracle, we realize that its success came from the support of many people. It is currently the largest Chinese marrow donor data bank in the world today.

Tzu Chi Culture Mission Tzu Chi foundation uses 4 visible missions to purify the invisible spiritual sphere and to promote social harmony and peace.

During the last 40 years, the tireless efforts of Tzu Chi members have helped to pave the way for a pure paradise in this world.

Tzu Chi culture aims at seeking truth, goodness and beauty. In the area of mass media, the Tzu Chi Monthly Magazine, which was first published in July 1967, aims at reporting the good side and the good deeds of mankind. Therefore, Tzu Chi Humanitarianism Culture Centre was established in 2005 for the purpose of magazines, & books publishing , enhanced by the launched of Tzu Chi Da-Ai radio and TV broad cast center. Tzu Chi Education Mission Before the Tzu Chi Hospital had even opened, Master- Cheng Yen already planned to set up colleges of nursing and medicine to produce medical specialists for the hospital, since it was difficult to attract doctors and nurses to Eastern Taiwan. After the hospital was opened, she actively began to make preparations. With support from all sides and through the Master's own hard work, the Tzu Chi Junior- College of Nursing was opened on September 17, 1989, and the Tzu Chi College of Medicine on October 16, 1994. These events wrote new pages in the history of Tzu Chi education. The nursing college and the medical college are the foundation of Tzu Chi education. On July 2000, Tzu Chi had completed set up kindergartens, elementary schools, secondary schools, and a university. It is clear that the Tzu Chi education emphasizing both humanitarianism and professional expertise has been a good model for education in Taiwan. Further more, the seeds of Tzu Chi education has spread further by setting up schools, enhanced education center, vocational training center in Asia, United States of America, South America as well as South Africa.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

The University of Cape Town Law Clinic provides free legal assistance to impoverished communities who would not otherwise have access to professional legal services. The Clinic has a long history of assisting indigent South Africans, beginning in the early 1970's when a few students started operating out of a tiny office on campus.

Today it is a thriving legal practice with an administrator, seven attorneys and three candidate attorneys, a refugee legal counsellor and a refugee legal assistant. In response to the growing need of refugees and asylum seekers in South Africa in the late 1990's, the Clinic created a Refugee Rights Project to offer crucial legal and advocacy services for displaced and at-risk individuals and families.

The Refugee Rights Project at the UCT Law Clinic has been funded since 1998 by the UNHCR. It is run as an implementing partner of the UNHCR and it assists the Western Cape's refugees and asylum seekers secure their human rights, navigate through the asylum process and find durable solutions such as voluntary repatriation, resettlement and local integration. It furthermore advocates at all levels of government for the effective protection of refugees.

STRUCTURE:

The Refugee Rights Project is part of UCT's Law Clinic. It is physically located in the Law Faculty of the University Of Cape Town, in Cape Town, South Africa. In total, the Refugee Rights Project has two refugee attorneys, two candidate attorneys, one senior refugee legal counsellor and one refugee legal assistant. The senior Refugee Attorney in the Project is also the Coordinator of the Project and supervises all of the work in the Project. The senior refugee legal counsellor assists in coordinating and managing Advocacy projects for the Project.

ACTIVITIES:

UCT Law Clinic's Refugee Rights Project's key mandate is to ensure that the best legal support and services are made available to refugees and asylum seekers in the Western Cape.

In this regard, the Project provides the following legal assistance to refugees and asylum seekers:

- 1) Protection Rights (e.g., asylum status determination procedures);
- 2) Security Rights (e.g., apprehension, search and detention matters);
- 3) Durable Solutions (e.g., family reunification, voluntary repatriation, permanent residence status, travel and identity documents);
- 4) Civil, Political, and Socio-Economic Rights (e.g., employment, educational, tenancy, and health rights). The Project's other main focus is to support the local integration of refugees and asylum seekers into South African society, by creating an environment for the promotion of refugee law and refugee protection, including capacity building within government agencies, NGO's and the South African community. The Project has an educational outreach programme, in which it creates information and training materials, and conducts refugee rights workshops in the local and refugee communities as well as with local service providers. Furthermore, the project advocates at all levels of government for the realization of rights of refugees. For example, this activity ranges from making oral or written submissions to governmental departments on refugee related issues to forming policies for local government on the integration of refugees into society.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

USCRI has been a leading advocate for refugees, immigrants, and asylum seekers in the United States since 1911. We work closely with our network of community-based partner agencies in implementing domestic policy programs and recommendations. Internationally, USCRI conducts research and site visits to influence policies to protect refugees and internally displaced persons.

The mission of USCRI is to address the needs and rights of persons in forced or voluntary migration worldwide by advancing fair and humane public policy, facilitating and providing direct professional services, and promoting the full participation of migrants in community life. USCRI maintains a network of research contributors in refugee hosting countries and plays a leading role in the international civil society campaign against the warehousing of refugees.

STRUCTURE:

The U.S. Committee for Refugees and Immigrants is governed by a volunteer Board of Directors, led and managed by a President and Vice-President. The agency President has 7 senior staff reporting to her who meet frequently to set priorities, communicate achievements and developments and coordinate activities. It is also the forum for devising internal protocols and allows advocacy, fundraising, communication and program to work in sync. USCRI has 63 staff in three locations – headquarters in Washington DC and field offices conducting refugee resettlement and immigration services in Vermont and Albany, New York.

ACTIVITIES:

USCRI decided as a long-term goal to mount a campaign against the warehousing of refugees – the practice of denying people their rights under the 1951 Refugee Convention. In the United States, USCRI's network of partners – many in existence since the early 1900s – depend on USCRI to advocate nationally for refugee resettlement levels, fair practices for immigrants and support for programs to help newcomers to America. This year we also established the National Center for Refugee and Immigrant Children to provide pro bono representation to minors undergoing legal immigration proceedings. USCRi is a strong advocate for UN overseas assistance accounts and works in partnership with UNHCR to highlight funding gaps.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

The Catholic Church in the United States has been assisting immigrants and refugees adjust to their new lives since the founding of the nation. In 1920, under the auspices of the National Catholic Welfare Conference (NCWC), the bishops established a Department of Immigration at the national level. Between 1920 and 1930, the Immigration Department, which had a presence at Ellis Island, had assisted more than 100,000 immigrants in their efforts to immigrate. Following World War II and the passage of the Displaced Persons Admissions Act of 1948, the Church assisted in the resettlement of more than 100,000 European refugees. Catholic Relief Services (CRS) and the Catholic Committee for Refugees coordinated the provision of resettlement services. Throughout the 1950's, the NCWC Department of Immigration assisted in the preparation of documentation for visa applications for prospective immigrants and helped newcomers with their immigration processing necessary to remain in the country and to become naturalized U.S. citizens. In 1965, a new office called Migration and Refugee Services (MRS) was created to be responsible for several functions, including refugee resettlement activities public policy development and advocacy, and the provision of legal immigration services.

STRUCTURE:

MRS currently has four offices to carry out its mandate from the bishops: the Office for the Pastoral Care of Migrants and Refugees, the Office of Migration and Refugee Policy, the Office of Refugee Programs, and the Office of the Executive Director. In 2008, the MRS Office for the Pastoral Care of Migrants and Refugees will be assumed into a new USCCB office for Cultural Diversity in the Church.

ACTIVITIES:

Since 1975, MRS has coordinated the resettlement of more than 800,000 refugees through dioceses throughout the country. Since 1999, MRS has expanded its work with unaccompanied refugee and alien children and in 2002, began working with the victims of human trafficking, which includes a number of unaccompanied minors requiring specialized placements and services. Since its beginning, MRS has administered an office in Miami to work with migrants and refugees arriving directly to the U.S. from Cuba and Haiti. MRS assists the bishops in the development and advocacy of policy positions at the national and international levels that address the needs and conditions of these populations. MRS engages in educational efforts designed to influence public, particularly Catholic, attitudes toward these populations and to create a welcoming and supportive Church in the United States including arranging critical services to these populations in collaboration with government, Catholic partners, and other allied organizations.

The Women's Commission for Refugee Women and Children is a U.S.-based nongovernmental organization (NGO) that advocates for policies and programs to ensure the rights and protection of refugee women, children and youth, including the provision of vital services such as health care, education and economic opportunity. The Women's Commission is instrumental in identifying and drawing to the attention of the international community issues that are of great importance to refugees and that are not receiving attention or being tackled in an effective way. These issues include reproductive health; preventing sexual violence related to firewood collection; the trafficking of women and girls; the special needs of youth; the right of all children to education; the need of all displaced people to have opportunities to earn a living and be self-supporting ("livelihoods"); and conditions of detention for asylum seekers.

STRUCTURE:

Documents and exposes abuses against women, youth and child refugees and asylum seekers, and makes recommendations and advocates for change. It does this through fact-finding missions, field research, reports and conferences. Develops manuals, tools and guidelines to promote systemic change in policy and programming at the field level in order to enhance the protection and well-being of displaced women, youth and children. Monitors international efforts to implement and revise UN policies and guidelines that have been developed to protect refugees and displaced persons. Advises the U.S. Congress and administration to pass and implement legislation for the protection, care and rights of women and children refugees and asylum seekers. Strengthens local women's and youth organizations working with refugees by providing technical assistance to foster growth and advocacy. Calls on the power of refugee women and youth to identify their priority concerns and contribute to solutions, by linking them to international organizations, governments and the UN. Joins with other international organizations to form coalitions, networks and working groups to initiate actions on behalf of refugee women and children. Organizes and hosts caucuses, panel discussions and consultations at major international conferences.

ACTIVITIES:

PROGRAMS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS Improving the Security and Well-being of Displaced Women and Youth Aims to improve protection, security and well-being of refugee women and youth in war-affected areas and to increase their participation in planning and managing assistance programs. ° Helped UNHCR launch new guidelines that require all UNHCR country offices to conduct focus groups with women, young people and other groups with special needs as part of the annual UNHCR planning process. ° Recommended to governments and law-enforcement agencies major changes in their approach that would recognize trafficked women and girls as victims of a crime, rather than as illegal immigrants. ° Launched a project to identify and promote sustainable livelihood interventions in refugee situations, with a focus on matching refugees' existing skills and experience with local market needs. ° Helped to initiate, and continues to monitor and campaign for implementation of UN Security Council Resolution 1325 on women, peace and security, which addresses the impact of war on women, and calls for the equal and full participation of women in conflict resolution and peace building. Promoting Health Care Services for Displaced Women and Children Promotes quality, comprehensive reproductive health (RH) care for refugees in the areas of safe motherhood, family planning, sexually transmitted infections, including HIV/AIDS, and gender-based violence. ° Ensures that RH service provision is standard practice among humanitarian assistance organizations, policy makers and donors. ° Publishes reports, training manuals and distance-learning modules that lead to measurable improvements in reproductive health care for conflict-affected populations. ° Conducts assessments of the Minimum Initial Service Package (MISP) for reproductive health and advocates findings to highlight the importance of providing RH services in the earliest days of an emergency. ° Provided leadership in the completion of an unprecedented global evaluation of RH for refugees that documented progress, gaps and challenges ahead; continues to advocate for advances in this field. ° Published Beyond Firewood: Fuel Alternatives and Protection Strategies for Displaced Women and Girls, a first-of-its-kind report on ways to mitigate widespread violence against displaced women and girls as they collect firewood. Protecting and Educating Displaced Children and Youth Youth have special needs that are not universally recognized or met, and millions of children affected by armed conflict have no access to formal education. The Women's Commission advocates for increased child- and youth-specific responses in policy, programming and humanitarian assistance with a focus on education in emergencies. ° Ensures that education in emergencies for displaced women, youth and children is on the agenda of governments, donors, the UN and humanitarian organizations. Raised awareness of the need for uninterrupted education for young people affected by conflict in the landmark report, the Global Survey on Education in Emergencies. ° Conducted the first-ever training in Africa on the Inter-Agency Network for Education in Emergencies' Minimum Standards for Education in Emergencies, in Darfur, Sudan; Women's Commission advocacy resulted in UNICEF inviting community participation in their education coordination meetings in North Darfur. ° Conducted and published first worldwide participatory studies on adolescents affected by armed conflict. ° Houses Watchlist on Children and Armed Conflict, a collaborative NGO initiative that advocates to the UN Security Council to improve monitoring, reporting and follow-up action to protect the security and rights of children in specific armed conflicts. (www.watchlist.org) Ensuring the Rights of Refugees and Asylum Seekers in the United States Advocates for fair treatment for refugees and asylum seekers in the United States and worldwide. ° Advocates and works with the U.S. Congress and Federal agencies to ensure access to asylum for women and children fleeing armed conflict and abuse, to limit the use of detention and—if used—ensure that conditions for women and children are humane, and to increase access to legal representation. ° Produced groundbreaking documentation of harsh and degrading treatment of women and children asylum seekers held in U.S. prisons and detention centers. ° Was a catalyst for the 1998 U.S. guidelines for treatment of children asylum seekers and helped train asylum officers and immigration judges in using the guidelines. ° Produced What Happens When I Go To Immigration Court, a short educational film aimed at orienting children to immigration court. ° Was instrumental in the passage of the Unaccompanied Alien Child Protection Act in the Senate by unanimous consent. The law extends legal aid to children fleeing to the United States alone by recruiting more pro bono lawyers to donate their time and expertise to help in asylum proceedings.

HISTORY; PURPOSE:

The World Council of Churches (WCC) is the broadest and most inclusive among the many organized expressions of the modern ecumenical movement, a movement whose goal is Christian unity. The goal of the World Council of Churches is not to build a global "super-church", nor to standardize styles of worship, but rather to deepen the fellowship of Christian churches and communities so they may see in one another authentic expressions of the "one holy, catholic and apostolic church". This becomes the basis for joining in a common confession of the apostolic faith, cooperating in mission and human service endeavours and, where possible, sharing in the sacraments. All these acts of fellowship bear testimony to the foundational declaration of the WCC that the Lord Jesus Christ is "God and Saviour according to the Scriptures".

STRUCTURE:

The WCC brings together more than 340 churches, denominations and church fellowships in over 100 countries and territories throughout the world, representing some 400 million Christians and including most of the world's Orthodox churches, scores of denominations from such historic traditions of the Protestant Reformation as Anglican, Baptist, Lutheran, Methodist and Reformed, as well as many united and independent churches. While the bulk of the WCC's founding churches were European and North American, today most are in Africa, Asia, the Caribbean, Latin America, the Middle East and the Pacific.

For its member churches, the WCC is a unique space: one in which they can reflect, speak, act, worship and work together, challenge and support each other, share and debate with each other. As members of this fellowship, WCC member churches:

- are called to the goal of visible unity in one faith and one Eucharistic fellowship;
- promote their common witness in work for mission and evangelism;
- engage in Christian service by serving human need, breaking down barriers between people, seeking justice and peace, and upholding the integrity of creation; and
- foster renewal in unity, worship, mission and service.

ACTIVITIES:

1. Networking

- Regional working groups in most of the regions meet regularly to share information about regional developments, develop common advocacy priorities, meet with UNHCR, IOM and other inter-governmental organizations, carry out advocacy vis-à-vis governments in their regions, develop common awareness-raising tools and provide mutual support to one another. These regional working groups all work in close collaboration with the regional ecumenical organizations.
- Global Ecumenical Network (GEN) once a year, two representatives from each of these regional working groups, together with other participants from the network who are able to participate, including funding partners, meets in Geneva at the Global Ecumenical Network meeting. This meeting builds on the work done at the regional level. Information is shared, common advocacy priorities are developed, meetings are scheduled with UNHCR and/or IOM, and participants are able to support one another, get new ideas for their own work and provide guidance to WCC's advocacy work. The meeting is usually held immediately prior to the annual UNHCR/NGO consultations which enables participants to attend the UNHCR meetings where they are both informed of global developments and are able to raise their issues in a global forum. Between annual meetings, the network communicates through a GEN listserv where participants can share information on developments in their country/region with the whole network and WCC can send information on global developments.
- WCC's role is to accompany the regional working groups - attending the meetings, working with partners to shape the agenda, and provide financial support for the meetings. WCC organizes the GEN meeting, liaises with UNHCR in ensuring the network's participation in the UNHCR meetings, and provides financial support to participants from the South. WCC also provides accompaniment and financial support for inter-regional exchanges, such as the Amman process, or enabling a representative from one regional working group to participate in another regional working group.

2. Advocacy

- WCC staff are active advocates vis-à-vis UNHCR, participating actively in meetings organized with UNHCR staff, talking with individual UNHCR desks on issues raised by the network, facilitating meetings of partners with UNHCR, participating in broader NGO coalitions, such as ICVA and SCHR, and formulating WCC public statements on issues of refugees, migrants and displaced people.
- The advocacy priorities for WCC's work with uprooted people are developed by the wider network. In other words, they come from the regions, rather than being developed in Geneva and then sent out to the network for support. Without the network, WCC's advocacy work would be more similar to that of Amnesty International rather than building on the strength of the constituency.

3. Financial support

- Financial support is provided to churches and ecumenical organizations to support their work with uprooted people. This includes such activities as support to Hong Kong Christian Action for the legal services they provide to foreign domestic workers, MECC's training programmes for churches in working with refugees and others who experience trauma and torture, and FEDEPAZ's work to lobby their government on legislation affecting migrants and refugees and to 21 Christian National Councils implementing different activities across Africa.
- Proposals are received by WCC by 15 September. Staff review the proposals and consider expected income for the following year and notify partners of the minimum they can expect to receive the following year. Some donors designate funds for specific projects while others designate by region (often in consultation with WCC staff). WCC is able to balance these various restrictions to ensure that the needs of most partners are met (although there is never enough money to meet all the need, of course). A transfer schedule is worked out and, after an ecumenical partnership agreement is signed, funds are transferred in accord with that schedule. Reports are received in January - February, are edited and formatted, and are then shared with the funding partners. The process is transparent in that all partners know where the funds go and receive the reports from all partners (which is also a learning tool.)
- In most cases, staff work with partners to review their overall financial needs to consider alternative sources of funding, and to support them in their efforts to diversify their funding base. This work has included, for example, writing supportive letters to funding partners suggesting bilateral support, advocating with UNHCR to support partners as implementers of UNHCR programmes, and suggesting ways the partner can generate more income locally.
