15:45-16:45	Agenda Item 11: Resettlement Issues (Breakout Groups)
-------------	--

This session will feature four concurrent breakout sessions, to enable delegates to discuss and share best practices regarding specific operational and policy resettlement issues.

Group A: Newer and smaller-scale resettlement programs: sharing lessons learned Salle III

This discussion will build on the "Integrating New Communities" sessions held during the Working Group on Resettlement (WGR) meeting in February 2013. A number of WGR participants expressed interest in holding another session for states – both government representatives and corresponding NGOs – to enable relatively new/emerging or smaller-scale programs to share their experiences and discuss best practices. Presenters will share lessons learned as well as preparations for new or expanded programs.

 - § Barbara Treviranus, Resettlement Consultant, UNHCR (moderator)

Group B: Selection and integration of new refugee groups Salle IV

This breakout group will discuss strategies to prepare for resettlement intake of new refugee groups (i.e., new priority populations or groups that are new to some resettlement states). Panel presentations will focus primarily on the Congolese as a new priority group, and the Chin from Malaysia as Australia is seeking engagement from other states in resettlement of this population. The session will emphasize needs in terms of post-arrival services.

Norway will present on their three-year cycle and planning for new groups.

Presenters:

 - § Jim O'Callaghan, Assistant Secretary, Humanitarian Branch, DIAC, Government of Australia
 - § Kjell Østby, Deputy Director General, Ministry of Children, Equality and Social Inclusion, Government of Norway
 - § Erol Kekic, Refugee Council USA, Director, Immigration and Refugee Program, Church World Service
 - § Naomi Steinberg, Director, Refugee Council USA (rapporteur)

Group C: LGBTI refugees Salle VII

Due to the discrimination and abuse they experience, many lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex (LGBTI) individuals flee their home countries and seek protection abroad. LGBTI individuals may be under a continuous threat of human rights abuses due to discriminatory laws and hostile societal attitudes in countries of asylum. Resettlement may be the only viable durable solution for LGBTI refugees facing specific protection risks due to their sexual orientation and gender identity. In some cases, emergency processing or evacuation may be required as lengthy processing can exacerbate security risks.

This session will focus on ways to ensure that LGBTI refugees have access to the resettlement process and that their resettlement needs are both assessed on a non-discriminatory basis and effectively addressed post-arrival. HIAS will present on post-arrival services in the U.S. for LGBTI refugees.

Presenters:

- § Tehseen Ahmed, Refugee Representative (Canada-sponsored)
- § Ron Parent, Manager, Refugee Resettlement Program Delivery, Citizenship and Immigration Canada, Government of Canada

- § UNHCR Resettlement Assessment Tool: LGBTI Refugees

Group D: Discussion on common tools Salle GB (Salle des Assemblees)

Building on discussions at the February WGR meeting, this break-out group will discuss the development of two global information tools for multi-year, multilateral resettlement commitments: 1) common cultural profile and 2) common health profile. The vision is that when states come together for multilateral efforts, such as for Syria, one state will step forward to take on the development of these two tools on the behalf of all states. Tools will be designed to share with domestic resettlement partners as part of a pre-arrival community preparedness exercise.

In this session, IOM will provide an overview of current tools and profiles compiled and the U.S. will speak to cultural orientation materials funded by the U.S. Government.

Presenters:

- § Chris Friesen, Canadian NGO Focal Point
- § Dr. Goran Grujovic, Senior Coordinator for Health Assessment Programs, IOM Geneva
- § Pindie Stephen, Senior Migrant Training Specialist, Integration Focal Point, IOM

Two guest speakers from Australia will join us by teleconference to share their experiences in relation to private sector involvement in refugee employment.

-------------	------------------

11:15-12:15	Agenda Item 14 : Engaging the Media

This session will feature presentations and discussions about media & public relations strategies and best practices.

The rise of negative discourse on refugees in some states, perpetuated by some media outlets, is making it more difficult to build welcoming and inclusive communities that support refugee resettlement initiatives. At the same time, refugees are frequently asked by states and NGOs to “share their personal story.” often without any concern for their wellbeing. This session will touch on a one year, multi-pronged refugee myth-busting campaign being lead by a Canadian municipal government. As well, we will discuss proposed protocols for states and NGOs when we engage media outlets in refugee resettlement matters.

Presenters:

- § Chris Friesen, Canadian NGO Focal Point
- § Tehseen Ahmed, Canada-sponsored refugee delegate
- § Alfred Kamara, Australia-sponsored refugee delegate
- § Bertine Bahige, USA-sponsored refugee delegate

NGOs will be asked to include in their presentations the most challenging issues to overcome, positive results achieved as a result of special interventions, and best practices.
