Protecting and Securing Solutions for Refugees and Asylum-Seekers

Most refugees in Central Asia have been living there for years, some even for decades. They are often fluent in local languages and have family ties with nationals of host countries. UNHCR supports long-lasting solutions that empower refugees to rebuild their lives.

Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan and Turkmenistan are State Parties to the 1951 Refugee Convention and its 1967 Protocol. UNHCR works with the countries to fulfil related obligations, as well as pledges made to the Global Compact on Refugees. UNHCR supports Uzbekistan with implementation of 2018 Universal Periodic Review recommendations, including accession to the Convention and Protocol.

UNHCR supports Governments to develop and strengthen their national asylum systems to meet international protection standards.

Where cross-border movements include refugees, victims of trafficking, and migrants, UNHCR and the International Organization for Migration collaborate on the Almaty Process on Refugee Protection and International Migration.

Working with Partners

Government partners include Ministries of Foreign Affairs, Labour, Internal Affairs, Emergency Situations, and Justice; Migration and Registration Services; Committees on Statistics and National Security; Border Guards; and Ombudspersons.

UNHCR partners with academia and the judiciary, building technical capacity of those involved in the asylum system, and implements most of its projects through civil society partners that assist and guide people seeking protection.

As a member of the UN Country Team and UN Sustainable Development Cooperation Frameworks, UNHCR engages with UN and development partners, international financial institutions and others to ensure refugees, asylum-seekers and stateless people are not left behind in States' achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

With thanks to our donors

UNHCR is grateful for contributions directly to operations in Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan, as well as donors of unearmarked and flexible funding, including from: Belgium | Denmark | European Union | Germany | Ireland | Italy | Netherlands | Norway | Sweden | Switzerland

UNHCR appreciates the important contributions of private donors in: Norway | Spain

Reducing and Preventing Statelessness

Most stateless persons in Central Asia are ex-citizens of the former Soviet Union who have not yet acquired or confirmed citizenship of the independent States. Without a nationality, they often have difficulty accessing basic rights such as education, healthcare, employment and freedom of movement.

Through community outreach, legal counselling, and assistance to confirm or acquire nationality, UNHCR and partners support Governments in identifying and protecting people without a nationality, and to prevent and reduce statelessness in line with the global #IBelong Campaign to End Statelessness.

UNHCR promotes alignment of national citizenship and other legislation with international standards, and advocates for Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan and Uzbekistan to join Turkmenistan as State Parties to the 1954 and 1961 Statelessness Conventions.

Responding to Emergencies

UNHCR supports government, UN and other humanitarian partners to plan and prepare responses to forced internal displacement and refugee emergencies. The Regional Humanitarian Logistics Hub in Uzbekistan enables UNHCR to be more agile and effective in its response, while reducing costs and minimizing risks.

The 2022 Afghanistan Situation Regional Refugee Response Plan seeks to support host governments to meet the needs of Afghans of varying statuses, including refugees and asylum-seekers, as well as host communities, and potential new arrivals in Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan.

With partners and authorities across the region, UNHCR advocates for safe and efficient access to asylum and non-refoulement.
