Background

Since 1950, the agency has helped tens of millions of people restart their lives. Today, a staff of more than 10,000 people in 130 countries continues to help and protect millions of refugees, returnees, internally displaced and stateless people. UNHCR provides lifesaving assistance, protection, shelter, food, clean water, education and medical care to some of the world’s most vulnerable. UNHCR also provides assistance to refugees who want to return home when it is safe to do so, and helps integrate refugees within their local host country or resettle to a third country when returning home is no longer an option. Non-governmental organization (NGO) partners work with UNHCR around the globe to assist and protect refugees and internally displaced people.

The External Relations team in the US Government Relations Unit represents UNHCR before U.S. Executive Branch officials, Members of the U.S. Congress and their staffers, advocacy organizations, and think tanks, educating and informing them about global refugee crises and UNHCR’s global role, capabilities, funding, programs, and impact.
