I. GENERAL INTRODUCTION

1. The purpose of this Overview of UNHCR Activities: Report for 1992 - 1993 (Overview) is to give a general presentation of UNHCR activities since the forty-third session of the Executive Committee of the High Commissioner's Programme (the Executive Committee), especially from the point of view of its programmes (both General and Special), and their budgetary implications. Its structure and format have been modified to reflect the recommendations of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions (ACABQ). Actions taken on decisions of the forty-third session of the Executive Committee, formerly included in the Overview, now appear as a separate document (A/AC.96/814). Unless otherwise indicated, this Overview reports on activities carried out in 1992, covers developments since the forty-third session of the Executive Committee (October 1992) through the end of May 1993, and provides initial projections on requirements for 1994.
2. The context of these activities is described in detail in UNHCR Activities Financed by Voluntary Funds (A/AC.96/808(Parts I - VI)) and the Report of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (E/1993/20) (ECOSOC Report), and in summary form in part II of this Overview, "The World Refugee Situation". A summary of issues relating to international protection appears in part III of this Overview, while a more detailed presentation is found in the Note on International Protection (A/AC.96/815).
3. The types of activities undertaken by UNHCR in the discharge of its mandate, namely emergency assistance, care and maintenance, and the pursuit of durable solutions (voluntary repatriation, local settlement and resettlement) are covered in part IV, entitled "Programme Activities". Budgetary and financial matters relating to these activities are covered in summary form in part V, "Budgetary and Financial Matters".
4. More detailed financial information in regard to 1992 may be found in document A/AC.96/811, which gives the accounts for that year. Similarly, more specific programmatic information and budgetary requirements may be found in document A/AC.96/808(Parts I to VI). The first five parts of this document cover, respectively, Africa, Asia and Oceania, Europe, the Americas, and South West Asia, North Africa and the Middle East (SWANAME). Part VI of the same document deals with Overall Allocations, that is budgetary allocations which are made under both General and Special Programmes for activities and projects primarily of a global/regional nature, and for which no specific allocation has been made in a country of area chapter. Included also in Part VI are all support costs at Headquarters.
5. Where possible, and with the aim of avoiding repetition, this Overview makes cross-references to documentation presented to the forty-fourth session of the Executive Committee.

II. THE WORLD REFUGEE SITUATION

6. The General Introduction of the Report of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees through the Economic and Social Council to the General Assembly provided an overview of the world refugee situation and gave an indication of major refugee flows occurring in 1992 and the first quarter of 1993 (See E/1993/20, paras. 1 to 10). It described 1992 and the first quarter of 1993 as undoubtedly the most difficult and demanding for the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees since its creation. Major developments in the world refugee situation are described in detail in document A/AC.96/808 (Parts I-V).

7. In 1992 the world refugee population rose to a disquieting 19 million. Some 2.3 million refugees repatriated voluntarily, while another 37,008 were resettled with UNHCR assistance. In 1992 and 1993 UNHCR has continued to implement its strategy of preparedness, prevention and solutions in an effort to respond rapidly to emergency situations, to avert, where possible, the occurrence of new refugee flows and to achieve solutions to refugee problems, notably through voluntary repatriation. The basic focus of this strategy has been to combine the traditional activities of protection and assistance with more innovative approaches to the prevention and resolution of refugee problems. As a consequence, however, UNHCR has found itself having to provide protection and assistance to refugees and displaced persons in situations of acute crisis or open conflict, whether in Africa, the former Soviet Union and the Balkans or parts of Asia -- with growing obstacles to access to those in need and increasing risks for UNHCR and implementing partner staff.

8. In 1992 and the first half of 1993, UNHCR's emergency preparedness measures facilitated timely responses to an unprecedented number of new, concurrent refugee emergencies around the globe. UNHCR tested emergency preparedness measures introduced in 1992, inter alia, in response to an influx of over 420,000 refugees in Kenya, mainly from Somalia. In July 1993, the flow of refugees from southern Sudan into Western Ethiopia, Uganda and Kenya intensified, again requiring emergency response measures. The Office has met the emergency needs of 80,000 Bhutanese who fled to Nepal and of 250,000 refugees from Myanmar in Bangladesh during 1992. In late 1992, UNHCR Emergency Response Teams were dispatched to Armenia, Azerbaijan and Tajikistan, while in early 1993, UNHCR responded to a new influx of some 280,000 Togolese refugees into Benin and Ghana. Renewed strife in Liberia triggered a fresh influx of Liberian refugees into Côte d'Ivoire, Guinea and Nigeria in late 1992. Liberia itself became the scene of an emergency relief for refugees and internally displaced persons, notably in Lofa country, especially following the signature of a comprehensive peace agreement on 24 July 1993. In early 1993 and again in month of June, the Central African Republic received an influx totalling 20,000 Chadian refugees. UNHCR continued its largest emergency programme in former Yugoslavia for some 3.6 million refugees, internally displaced and besieged populations. The Islamic Republic of Iran received an influx of some 4,500 refugees from Iraq during July 1993.

9. Turning to prevention -- an attempt to address the root causes of flight and create conditions conducive to return -- by June 1993, operational bases had been set up in Mandera and El-Wak in Kenya and Luuq, Garbahare, Bardera and Kismayo in Somalia, and over 170 community-based Quick Impact Projects (QIPs) were launched in dozens of villages in Somalia. The joint efforts of the humanitarian organizations and UNOSOM II have stemmed the outflow of Somali refugees; prospective repatriants, however, are awaiting a more permanent resolution to the situation in Somalia before returning en masse. The continued displacement and exodus of refugees, whether in the Balkans, the Transcaucasus, Central Asia or in other parts of the world, however, bear testimony to the limits of prevention without decisive action at the political level.

10. While improving its capacity to respond to emergencies and pursuing prevention, the Office has persisted in its determined pursuit of solutions for refugee problems. Close to 1.3 million Afghan refugees were assisted to repatriate from Pakistan and the Islamic Republic of Iran up to 31 December 1992, while another 260,000 repatriated through the end of July 1993, in addition to major, spontaneous repatriation movements. More than 360,000 Cambodian refugees returned in time to participate in national elections and the building of a democratic society. Well over 60,000 Ethiopian refugees have returned from Kenya and repatriation of Ethiopians has begun from the Sudan and will intensify in the coming months. More than 175,000 refugees had already returned to Mozambique by May 1993, where UNHCR is finalizing its preparations for the reception and reintegration, in cooperation with UNOHAC, other United Nations agencies and NGOs, of some 1.5 million Mozambicans. Arrangements for large-scale repatriation to Eritrea and north-west Somalia are also on the horizon and are actively being pursued. A sizeable return movement from Afghanistan of Tajik refugees has continued since early 1993 and by end July had reached 14,000.

11. In Asia, implementation of the Comprehensive Plan of Action for Indo-Chinese Refugees (CPA) continued on track, and the number of Vietnamese asylum-seekers arriving by boat stood at 58 in the first six months of 1993, compared with an overall total of 30,939 in 1990, 22,422 in 1991 and 55 in 1992. The resumption of voluntary repatriation to Sri Lanka from India has permitted almost 35,000 refugees to return home in 1992 and the first eight months of 1993. In the Americas, the Governor's Island agreement of 3 July 1993 raised hopes for the resolution of the Haitian crisis. The International Conference on Central American Refugees (CIREFCA) entered a new phase in July 1993, as UNDP assumed the lead-agency role for CIREFCA's fifth and final year, which ends in May 1994. The organized repatriation of Guatemalan refugees, Central America's largest remaining refugee group, began in January 1993 and by July a total of 3,656 Guatemalans had repatriated voluntarily from Mexico with UNHCR assistance.

12. Despite these positive developments, resurgent nationalism, coupled with the myriad consequences of the collapse of the old world order are likely to contribute to a multiplication of conflicts and to an increase in the number of the world's refugees. UNHCR stands ready to contribute to system-wide efforts to improve the response capacity of the United Nations to emergency situations, while continuing a dialogue with the international community on an adequate international response to the humanitarian challenges of today's world.

III. INTERNATIONAL PROTECTION

13. This chapter summarizes the nature of challenges to the international protection of refugees and the type of protection activities that the Office, in discharge of its statutory responsibilities, has undertaken during the period under review.

14. The activities have in particular focused on securing respect for the basic rights of refugees as well as searching for durable solutions to their problems. The scale and increasing complexity of the world's refugee situation has also led UNHCR to explore and implement, where appropriate, innovative and pragmatic approaches to international protection, and seek the cooperation of States in this regard on the basis of international responsibility, solidarity and burden-sharing and in a framework comprising human rights, international refugee and humanitarian law and standards.

15. While exploring and developing complementary protection strategies, UNHCR continues to pursue protection activities that are central to its mandate on behalf of refugees in countries of asylum. The Office remains seriously concerned by situations in various regions where persons seeking protection have been denied admission to safety in violation of the principle of non-refoulement as well as considerations of basic humanity. In such situations, the Office intervened with the authorities concerned, not only to secure admission but also to determine the reasons for refusing it, with a view to defining an appropriate response which could assist the country to meet its international obligations towards refugees.

16. Concurrently, in its efforts to achieve solutions, the Office has pursued strategies which have led to more direct involvement in countries of origin, including those affected by acute crisis or open conflict. On that basis, the Office has been called upon to provide protection and humanitarian assistance to people within their own country, including internally displaced persons, in order to relieve their suffering and, with a view to prevention, to attenuate the factors compelling them to flee their homes.

17. An area of particular concern has been the physical safety of refugees, both in flight and in countries of asylum. Many incidents where refugees and asylum-seekers, including women and children, have been victims of physical mistreatment including murder, torture, rape and other forms of violence were reported in the period under review. These worrying developments led UNHCR to bring the issue to the attention of the Sub-Committee of the Whole on International Protection, at its inter-sessional meeting in May 1993, where the problems relating to the personal security of refugees and the specific issue of sexual violence were covered extensively.

18. As reflected in the draft report of that meeting (EC/1993/SCP/CRP.5), the debate demonstrated the serious concern of the international community regarding violations of the personal security of refugees and, in particular, regarding the use of sexual violence as an instrument of systematic persecution or intimidation. The Sub-Committee decided to review draft conclusions on these issues for possible adoption by the Executive Committee at its forty-fourth session.

19. Given the serious concern attached to the protection of refugee women and children, UNHCR has also addressed their situation and needs at the operational level. The development of People Oriented Planning (POP) workshops and more detailed treatment of these issues in the emergency management training programme aims at ensuring that the Guidelines on the Protection of Refugee Women and the Guidelines on Refugee Children become an integral part of UNHCR's activities in the field. UNHCR has also participated, alongside the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), in the preparation of guidelines on the evacuation of children from war zones. The Office is also intensifying its efforts to address recurrent protection problems affecting refugee children, through direct interventions as well as through the development of standards and increased advocacy, often in partnership with intergovernmental and/or non-governmental organizations. The High Commissioner will submit to the forty-fourth session of the Executive Committee UNHCR's Policy on Refugee Children (EC/SCP/82), setting out the framework for future actions by the Office on behalf of refugee children. The 1988 Guidelines on Refugee Children are being revised, as described in the "Information Note on the Revision of the Guidelines on Refugee Children" (EC/SCP/81).

20. Since the forty-third session of the Executive Committee, a significant number of voluntary repatriation movements have taken place. The Office has often been instrumental in ensuring that a legal framework is implemented to protect the rights and interests of returnees and in providing assistance and support to local structures to cope with the return movement. When conditions permit, the Office has frequently promoted voluntary repatriation, inter alia, by organizing information campaigns to provide the refugees with adequate information for them to make an informed decision regarding repatriation. At the same time, the Office has been in close contact with the authorities of the country of asylum to ensure that the voluntary character of the repatriation is fully respected.

21. In some situations, the fragility of the political settlement of a long-standing conflict and of an ongoing reconciliation process or outbreak of renewed hostilities have prevented the returnees from fully recovering their former rights and property and thereby prevented the achievement of the overall objective of voluntary repatriation, which is safe, full and durable reintegration into the country of origin. In this connection, the Office is finalizing guidelines which review and consolidate protection principles relating to voluntary repatriation in the light of present trends. The Guidelines respond to a very real need of UNHCR field offices, and may, in addition, facilitate smooth cooperation with governments and non-governmental partners in complex voluntary repatriation operations. The "Information Note on the Development of UNHCR's Guidelines on the Protection Aspects of Voluntary Repatriation" (EC/SCP/80) gives details on the process followed by UNHCR in revising the guidelines and highlights the main issues covered therein. The important role of resettlement as a durable solution and an instrument of protection has again been illustrated in a number of situations during the reporting period. In resettlement programmes, a particular concern of the Office is the preservation of family unity.

22. At the request of the Executive Committee, UNHCR has continued to raise awareness of protection issues in human rights fora, such as State responsibility to prevent circumstances which give rise to refugee flows and to promote conditions conducive to voluntary repatriation. In her statements to the forty-ninth session of the Commission on Human Rights and to the Vienna World Conference on Human Rights, the High Commissioner raised the need for an early, effective response to human rights situations which generate refugees or which impede their safe return home; the importance of attention to the human rights aspects of internal displacement; and the concept of the "right to remain", inherent in the right not to be exiled. Resolutions adopted by the Commission and at the World Conference concerning human rights and mass exodus, and on internally displaced persons responded to some of the concerns raised by the Office.

23. In the area of promotion of accession to refugee law instruments, since the beginning of 1992, eleven States have acceded to the 1951 Convention and the 1967 Protocol relating to the Status of Refugees, bringing the number of States Parties to one or both instruments to 121 at 1 September 1993. UNHCR has pursued its promotional activities, seeking to strengthen knowledge and understanding of refugee issues and reinforce the effective implementation of international standards in national legislation and administrative procedures. These activities have a preventive component as well, inasmuch as safeguarding the human rights of refugees and returnees entails promoting respect for the human rights of everyone. The initiatives taken in this field are outlined in the "Information Note on UNHCR's Activities for Refugee Law Promotion, Dissemination and Training" (EC/SCP/78).

24. Accurate, current and verifiable information is a prerequisite for developing coherent responses in the field of international protection and the search for durable solutions. The Centre for Documentation on Refugees (CDR) is UNHCR's specialized information and documentation centre, storing information relating to refugees from flight through asylum to voluntary repatriation. Since the forty-third session of the Executive Committee, CDR has developed and adapted its services, publications and databases to meet the needs of UNHCR staff and other intergovernmental and non-governmental agencies. On the services side, along with its regular bibliographic and full-text legal databases, the CDR developed a country-oriented information approach.

25. The disturbing trend of intolerance and violence against foreigners, including asylum-seekers and refugees, by segments of the population in a number of countries continued to be observed in the reporting period, despite preventive and deterrent measures taken by the authorities to improve their security and prosecute the perpetrators of violent acts. UNHCR has supported and participated in increased efforts being made by governmental and non-governmental organizations to combat negative attitudes against asylum-seekers and refugees through the promotion of broader understanding of their plight.

26. The Note on International Protection (A/AC.96/816) submitted by the High Commissioner to the forty-fourth session of the Executive Committee examines these issues in more detail based on recent developments and UNHCR's practical experience over the last year. The Note calls for the development of appropriate responses and ways to uphold and defend the institution of asylum, while at the same time pursuing complementary strategies in countries of origin.

IV. PROGRAMME ACTIVITIES

A. Introduction

27. UNHCR's assistance activities in the various countries or areas are grouped under two broad programme categories, namely General Programmes and Special Programmes. Within each of these categories, the types of assistance are Emergency Assistance, Care and Maintenance, Voluntary Repatriation, Local Settlement and Resettlement.

28. The last three types of assistance constitute the three classical durable solutions to the plight of refugees. It will be recalled that in the Statute of the Office of the High Commissioner, the two main functions of the High Commissioner are given as the provision of international protection to refugees who fall within the scope of the Statute and the seeking of permanent solutions for the problem of refugees.

B. Types of Activities

29. Summary Table 1 of this document gives an overview by Regional Bureau, country or area of UNHCR expenditure in 1992, under all sources of funds, for the various types of assistance. Total expenditure, including programme support and administration, amounted to $ 1.09 billion. Of this amount, expenditure under General Programmes amounted to $ 382.1 million and Special Programmes amounted to $ 689.8 million. The total United Nations Regular Budget contribution to UNHCR (towards administrative expenditure) amounted to $ 21.2 million; this sum forms part of the overall programme support and administration expenditure which came to $ 90.4 million. Further details on these expenditures can be found in the High Commissioner's Report through the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) to the General Assembly (E/1993/20, paras. 36-66).

1. Emergency Assistance

30. A Conference Room Paper (EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.21) gives an update on UNHCR's efforts to enhance its emergency response capacity.

31. Emergency assistance is financed by recourse to the UNHCR Emergency Fund and by Special Appeals. These two sources of funding cover the expenditure detailed in Summary Table 1 under the heading Emergency Assistance. In 1992 this amounted to $ 377.6 million, of which $ 308.9 million was for activities related to the special programme for the former Yugoslavia and neighbouring affected countries. The Emergency Fund allows UNHCR to provide an initial rapid response to new refugee situations. In December 1992, the Executive Committee raised the ceiling of the Emergency Fund from $ 20 million to $ 25 million, with the amount available for any single emergency in any one year raised to $ 8 million. If the assistance provided through the Emergency Fund proves to be insufficient because of the magnitude of the emergency situation, UNHCR invariably issues a Special

Appeal to raise the necessary funds. In certain instances, the Office makes recourse to the Central Emergency Revolving Fund (CERF), administered by the Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs on behalf of the Secretary-General, in anticipation of funding from its Special Appeals.

32. Expenditure under the Emergency Fund during 1993 up until 31 May 1993 is set out in Table V.2. In the same period, Special Appeals have been issued to cover emergency situations in Ghana ($ 5.2 million) and Benin ($ 4.8 million), Armenia ($ 7.8 million), Azerbaijan ($ 7.5 million) and Tajikistan ($ 19.5 million). In the case of the Special Appeals for Armenia and Azerbaijan, the amounts also cover activities undertaken in late 1992. Recourse was also made to CERF for an amount of $ 5 million to cover initial expenditure for the emergency in Tajikistan and $ 2 million for Georgia.

2. Care and Maintenance

33. After the emergency phase of a refugee operation, the basic needs of refugees are covered by activities described as care and maintenance. In 1992, this category of activities amounted to some $ 306 million, of which $ 214.7 million was expended under General Programmes and $ 91.4 million under Special Programmes. In 1993, major care and maintenance programmes are continuing in Bangladesh, Ethiopia, Guinea, Hong Kong, Kenya, Malawi, Nepal, Pakistan and Thailand.

3. Voluntary Repatriation

34. Of the three classical durable solutions, voluntary repatriation is regarded as the preferred solution. In 1992, it is estimated that some 2.3 million refugees repatriated. Overall expenditure in 1992 on voluntary repatriation amounted to $ 228.6 million, of which $ 209.6 million was incurred under Special Programmes. It will be recalled that the Sub-Committee on Administrative and Financial Matters at its meeting of 6 December 1991 discussed the need to have funds available to cover the preparatory or "start-up" costs of a voluntary repatriation movement; for this purpose, a budget line was introduced under General Programmes, entitled General Allocation for Voluntary Repatriation. At the 17 December 1992 meeting of the Executive Committee, it was decided to increase the General Allocation for Voluntary Repatriation to $ 20 million (A/AC.96/806).

35. Since December 1991, UNHCR has made available, on a regular basis, updates (in the form of Conference Room Papers) on ongoing and expected voluntary repatriation movements. Another such paper has been prepared for the forty-fourth session of the Executive Committee (EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.23).

4. Local Settlement

36. In 1992 total expenditure related to local settlement amounted to $ 75.7 million, of which the bulk was funded under General Programmes, namely $ 56.6 million. As in 1992, significant local settlement programmes are currently being implemented in China, Costa Rica, Côte d'Ivoire, Ethiopia, the Islamic Republic of Iran, Mexico, the Sudan, Uganda and Zaire.

5. Resettlement

37. In 1992, UNHCR resettled 37,008 refugees. Total expenditure in 1992 for resettlement amounted to $14.7 million. In the period January to March 1993, 8,306 persons were resettled.

C. Programme Management and Implementation

1. Changes to UNHCR Headquarters structure

38. In April 1993, the former Division of the Controller was reorganized into two new Divisions, namely the Division of the Controller and Management Services (comprising the Sections of Finance and Project Control, Treasury, Information and Communications Systems, General Services, and Organization and Methods, as well as the Senior Management Advisors) and the Division of Programmes and Operational Support (comprising the Sections of Programme Coordination and Budget, Programme and Technical Support, Emergency Preparedness and Response, and Supply and Transport, as well as the Programme Policy Unit). These structural changes were introduced so as to enhance programme and operational support as well as financial and management controls, and to improve coordination amongst the more field-oriented sections at Headquarters. Both Divisions will be headed by Directors at the D.2/L.7 level. The High Commissioner does not propose to ask, at this stage, for the creation of an additional D.2 post.

2. Working Group on Programme Management and Operational Capacity

39. The High Commissioner created, in April 1993, a Working Group on Programme Management and Operational Capacity which had as its mandate the review of UNHCR's assistance policy and programme management systems and procedures. The Working Group met during May and June 1993 and made a number of recommendations which were endorsed by the High Commissioner in early July. These recommendations focus on improved programme management and increased operational capacity of the field through:

- (a) the further delegation of the management of country programmes to the field;
- (b) modifications to UNHCR's programming cycle, including the simultaneous review of project, administrative and staffing proposals for a given country programme;
- (c) increased budgetary flexibility under implementing instruments; and
- (d) a streamlined, simplified and integrated reporting process towards Headquarters.

40. The Sub-Committee on Administrative and Financial Matters has before it a document (EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.20) which summarizes the recommendations of the Working Group. Implementation of the Working Group's recommendations has already begun.

3. Programme management training

41. In the last quarter of 1993, a revised Programme Management training course will be initiated in the field and at Headquarters. Relevant training modules have been prepared by a consultant; these incorporate the programmatic aspects of priority issues such as refugee women, refugee children, refugees with special needs, the environment and refugee participation.

4. Staffing reviews

42. The Organisation and Methods Section (O&M) conducted a number of reviews of UNHCR offices in the field as well as of units at Headquarters. The main reviews in the field were carried out in Ethiopia, the Islamic Republic of Iran, Malawi/Mozambique/Zimbabwe and Thailand; reviews were also conducted of the Regional Bureaux for Africa and Europe at Headquarters. The primary objective of such reviews was to determine appropriate management structures and staffing levels.

5. Opening and closing of UNHCR Offices in the field

43. UNHCR Offices in the field currently number 193 (14 Regional Offices, 95 Country Offices and 84 Sub- or Field Offices) in 109 countries. In addition to the 84 Sub- or Field Offices, UNHCR has a "field presence" in a further 45 locations. During the period 1 August 1992 to 31 July 1993, 28 new offices were opened, whereas 16 offices were closed. The costs of opening the 28 new offices, twelve of which are in the former Yugoslavia, are estimated at $ 26.8 million, of which $ 3.5 million is budgeted under General Programmes for new offices in Benin, the Dominican Republic, Ethiopia, Haiti, Kenya, Mali, Uganda and the Slovak Republic. Expected savings due to the closure of 16 offices, eight of which were in Cambodia and Thailand, amount to $ 4.8 million, of which $ 2.1 million is under General Programmes. It is planned to close another five offices during the remainder of 1993, leading to further budgetary reductions of approximately $ 1 million.

6. Statistics

44. At its forty-third session, the Executive Committee was presented with document EC/1992/SC.2/CRP.16, which outlined some of the major problems encountered in the collection and compilation of basic refugee statistics; the document also outlined proposals to resolve some of these difficulties. During 1993, steps were taken to address some of these problems, including:

- (a) the engagement of a consultant to review refugee enumeration policies and practices;
- (b) the testing of a revised statistical summary form to be used by UNHCR offices in the field; and

- (c) the employment of a full-time statistician to coordinate the collection, processing, compilation and dissemination of statistics on persons of concern to the Office.

45. A workshop is planned in November 1993 which will bring together a number of UNHCR staff with practical experience in refugee registration and enumeration. One of the expected outcomes of the workshop will be a field manual which will provide practical guidelines for the registration of refugee populations.

7. Food

46. The revised World Food Programme (WFP)/UNHCR working arrangements which began on 1 January 1992 have now entered their second phase, focusing on the operational aspects of the delivery of food. The new arrangements have progressively resulted in a decrease in the total amount of Internal Transport, Storage and Handling (ITSH) costs to be reimbursed to UNHCR.

47. As the WFP/UNHCR working arrangements have now been in operation for more than one and a half years, both organizations have decided to review the agreement so as to further rationalize their respective responsibilities with a view to making it more operational and efficient at the Headquarters and Field level.

48. In order to reinforce the collaboration with WFP, UNHCR has set up a separate Food and Statistical Unit in the Programme Coordination and Budget Section within the Division of Programmes and Operational Support. This Unit has been operational since May 1992 and is, inter alia, developing food and statistics databases which will enable UNHCR to monitor more closely the feeding operations, especially with regard to the number of beneficiaries, the different food baskets provided and the joint planning/revision of ongoing and new operations. In close consultation with the Programme and Technical Support Section, the nutritional value of food baskets is constantly monitored.

49. UNHCR and WFP are also finalizing a joint training programme for the field. The training will concentrate on the actual implementation of the WFP/UNHCR working arrangements in the field, with special emphasis on emergency response, joint identification of needs and the subsequent composition or revision of food baskets and logistics. Training materials have already been collated and the first of a series of regional field training courses should take place before the end of 1993.

V. BUDGETARY AND FINANCIAL MATTERS

A. The work of the Sub-Committee on Administrative and Financial Matters

50. Since the forty-third session of the Executive Committee, the Sub-Committee on Administrative and Financial Matters has met on three occasions: 17 December 1992 (see report of meeting in document EC/SC.2./59); on 31 March 1993 (see report of meeting in document EC/SC.2./60); and on 19 May 1993 (see report of meeting in document (EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.18). On the agenda of each of these meetings was an update on UNHCR programme and funding projections (EC/1992/SC.2/CRP.25; EC/1992/SC.2/CRP.25/Rev.1; EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.3; EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.12). At its 17 December 1992 meeting, the Sub-Committee recommended revisions to the 1993 General Programmes target; the Executive Committee approved these recommendations at a meeting on the same day (see A/AC.96/806). Among other issues considered by the Sub-Committee over the last year were the following: the relationship between General and Special Programmes (EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.11); updates on voluntary repatriation movements, including cost estimates (EC/1992/SC.2/CRP.26; EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.4; EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.4/Add.1); policy guidelines for the funding of non-governmental organizations as UNHCR implementing partners (EC/1993/SC.2/CRP.6).

B. General Programmes

1. Expenditure in 1992

51. Table V.1 gives a summary of 1992 expenditure under General Programmes, as well as the revised 1993 and proposed initial 1994 estimates. Expenditure in 1992 under General Programmes amounted to $ 382.1 million. Details of the country programmes, as well as Overall Allocations, are included in document A/AC.96/808(Parts I to VI) and in Summary Table 2 of this Overview. Summary Table 4 provides a global analysis by budget sectors of 1993-1994 General Programmes.

2. Budgetary estimates for 1993 (revised) and initial projections for 1994

52. The Executive Committee of the High Commissioner's Programme, at its forty-third session in October 1992, approved a 1993 General Programmes target of $ 378,249,000. At a subsequent meeting held on 17 December 1992, the Executive Committee approved an increase in this target to $ 413,658,000 (including $ 25,000,000 for the Emergency Fund, $ 20,000,000 for the General Allocation for Voluntary Repatriation and $ 33,513,800 for the Programme Reserve).

53. The programme and funding projections for 1993 were further revised during UNHCR's global annual programme review completed in mid-May 1993, during which budgetary reallocations were undertaken within the $ 413.6 million target. Savings identified under various programmes, notably in Bangladesh, the Islamic Republic of Iran, Kenya, Malawi, Pakistan and the Philippines were offset by increases required for country programmes such as Djibouti, the Dominican Republic, Guinea, Mexico, Nepal, the Russian Federation and Zaire. Details at the level of the country programmes, as well as Overall Allocations, are included in document A/AC.96/808(Parts I to VI) and in Summary Table 2.

(a) Annual Programme

54. General Programmes consist of the Annual Programme and the Emergency Fund. The Annual Programme is made up of programmed activities for individual countries or areas, Overall Allocations, the Programme Reserve and the General Allocation for Voluntary Repatriation. The following paragraphs look at these components of the Annual Programme.

f/ of which $ 12,926,400 allocated as of 31.05.93, leaving $ 12,073,600 for the remainder of the year.

(i) Programmed activities in 1994 including Overall Allocations

55. At this stage, activities that can be programmed for 1994 amount to $ 418,523,000. This estimate does not include an amount of $ 3.1 million of ITSH costs expected to be reimbursed by WFP.

56. Major increases for the 1994 Annual Programme involve, inter alia, the inclusion of the following budgetary amounts:

- (a) $ 6.3 million for refugee assistance programmes in Benin and Ghana;
- (b) $ 7.1 million for refugee assistance programmes in Armenia and Azerbaijan; and
- (c) $ 5 million for costs associated with UNHCR's move to new office premises.

57. Overall Allocations are the budgetary allocations which are made for activities and projects primarily of a global/regional nature, or for which, because of the small volume, no specific allocation has been made in a country or area chapter. Included also in Overall Allocations are all Headquarters support costs (Programme Support and Administration (PSA) and Project Personnel Expenditure (PPE)). The Tables attached to Part VI of document A/AC.96/808 give a complete presentation of Overall Allocations for General and Special Programmes.

(ii) Programme Reserve

58. For 1993, the Programme Reserve was established at a level of ten per cent of programmed activities, or $ 33,513,800 (including the increase approved by the Executive Committee in December 1992). This reserve has been drawn upon on various occasions during the first part of 1993, particularly to meet additional needs in Africa (mainly for Djibouti, Guinea and Guinea-Bissau), Asia (especially for Nepal), Europe (particularly for the Russian Federation and the Federal Republic of Germany), the Americas (mainly for the Dominican Republic, Cuba and Costa Rica), the Libyan Arab Jamahiriya and under Overall Allocations (for example, for the regional project for the repatriation of Latin American refugees, the country of origin project, the public awareness campaign aimed at sensitizing people to the situation of refugees and asylum-seekers, and for short-term consultants for evaluation activities). All drawings on the Programme Reserve through 31 May 1993 have now been incorporated into the revised country allocations and these are reflected in the relevant country tables included in document A/AC.96/808 (Parts I to VI). For the period June to December 1993, an amount of $ 11,567,800 is therefore still available for further allocations. For 1994, the proposed Programme Reserve level is again ten per cent of programmed activities, i.e. $ 33,956,600. It is expected that a large amount of this Reserve may again be required for Africa.

59. As in the past, the 1994 Programme Reserve will be used for the following purposes:

- (a) to cover unexpected increases in the costs of projects financed from the 1994 or previous years' programmes, or from an Emergency Fund allocation made in a previous year;
- (b) to meet the cost of modifications to 1994 projects that may be necessary to achieve the approved project objectives;
- (c) to increase existing allocations to meet needs resulting from a new influx or refugees belonging to a group already receiving assistance under the 1994 programme; and
- (d) to increase as required, with the Executive Committee's approval, the Field Staff Housing and Basic Amenities Fund.

(iii) General Allocation for Voluntary Repatriation

60. For 1993, the General Allocation for Voluntary Repatriation stands at $ 20 million. By 31 May 1993, some $ 14.6 million had been allocated. Of this amount, the main allocations were for Mozambique ($ 4 million), Burundi ($ 2.1 million), Ethiopia ($ 1.9 million), South Africa ($ 2.1 million), Tanzania ($ 1.5 million) and the Sudan ($ 1.1 million), thus leaving an unallocated balance of $ 5,436,460 for the remainder of the year. However, it is anticipated that some reimbursements may be possible once funds are received in response to Special Appeals.

b) Emergency Fund

61. Allocations made from the Emergency Fund for the period 1 January to 31 May 1993 (in millions of US dollars) are set out in Table V.2.

62. Total allocations thus amounted to $ 12.9 million, leaving an unallocated balance at 1 June 1993, of $ 12.1 million. For 1994, the proposed level for the Emergency Fund is again at $ 25 million.

C. Special Programmes

1. Expenditure in 1992

63. Expenditure under 1992 Special Programmes (including Special Trust Funds, Refugee Aid and Development projects and programmes funded through appeals by the United Nations Secretary-General) reached $ 689.8 million. Some 45 per cent of this amount pertained to UNHCR's activities in the former Yugoslavia. Further important expenditure concerned the Comprehensive Plan of Action for Indo-Chinese Refugees (CPA), the Afghan and Cambodia Repatriation Programmes and the Special Emergency Programmes in the Horn of Africa Area (SEPHA). Expenditure for 1992 Special Programmes is provided in Tables V.3 and V.4 and in Summary Table 2, with further details given in document A/AC.96/808(Parts I to VI).

2. Budgetary estimates for 1993 (revised) and initial projections for 1994

64. At 1 June 1993, Special Programmes projections for 1993 totalled $ 979,283,800. This amount covers anticipated needs under repatriation and returnee programmes, programmes in the former Yugoslavia, the CPA, the Education Account, various Trust Funds, including Extra-Budgetary Food and the Junior Professional Officers (JPO) Scheme.

65. The Education Account is an ongoing Special Programme which aims to provide appropriate tertiary level education as a means for beneficiaries to become self-sufficient and eventually to gain employment. In this regard, the programme particularly seeks to encourage vocational/technical education. In 1993, an amount of $ 3.5 million is to be allocated on behalf of 1,834 beneficiaries. In 1994, a similar amount will be allocated.

66. Special Programmes activities, including those with a regional focus, are summarized in document A/AC.96/808(Parts I to V) as well as A/AC.96/808(Part VI), dealing with Overall Allocations.

67. More comprehensive budgetary details on revised requirements for 1993, and, as far as available, projections of anticipated activities in 1994 are provided in Tables V.3 and V.4 and Summary Table 2. As regards the 1994 projections, it has to be noted, however, that these are only possible for some ongoing Special Programmes, and even they must be viewed as very tentative. Given the rather incomplete nature of Special Programmes projections, these will need to be updated as requirements evolve.

D. Budget summary (all programmes/sources of funds)

68. A summary of expenditure for 1992, the revised 1993 target and initial projections for 1994 for all programmes and sources of funds can be found in Summary Table V.4. Total expenditure in 1992 amounted to $ 1,093,058,100, including the United Nations Regular Budget contribution of $ 21,174,000. Revised estimates for 1993 stand at $ 1,414,294,700. Allowing for the difficulties mentioned above in projecting needs under both General and Special Programmes, the budgetary estimate for 1994 of $ 838,742,700 is still very

E. Support costs, including staffing levels

1. Introduction

69. As in the past, support costs are presented in the budgets in two categories: (i) Programme Support and Administration (PSA) and (ii) Project Personnel Expenditure (PPE), the latter forming part of operational expenditure. While approximately one quarter of PSA expenditure is met from the United Nations Regular Budget (RB), the balance, as well as all of PPE, is funded from voluntary funds.

70. Document A/AC.96/808(Parts I to VI) contains details on PSA and PPE expenditure for the 1994 initial budget; it also gives staffing requirements (1993 (revised) and 1994 (initial), for Headquarters, and for the country or area levels. Consolidated information (1992, 1993, 1994) on PSA and PPE expenditure, both at Headquarters and in the field, is also provided in Summary Table 6 of this Overview; the table also gives a breakdown by main objects of expenditure. Table V.5 provides the same information, but highlights the sources of funds, including the United Nations Regular Budget.

2. Support costs under General Programmes

71. Support cost variations under General Programmes are set out in Table V.6. The following paragraphs analyse these variations.

72. Actual expenditure in 1992 for PSA and PPE under General Programmes came to $ 112.7 million. The increase over the revised estimate of $ 105 million is due to the following:

- (a) There were increases of nearly $ 5.9 million in salaries and common staff costs in the field; these were partially offset by a decrease of $ 0.9 million in expenditure for general operating expenses and non-expendable property, as economies in those items continued to be maintained.
- (b) For Headquarters, 1992 estimates were based on an exchange rate of SFr 1.49 for one US dollar, the rate prevailing in April 1992. The average actual exchange rate for the year, however, was SFr 1.40 for one US dollar; this resulted in additional dollar expenditures of some $ 2 million. Increases of nearly $ 2.2 million in salaries and common staff costs were offset by a decrease of $ 1.5 million in non-staff costs savings.

73. PSA/PPE projections for 1993 were initially set at $ 102.1 million. The revised estimates for 1993 show an increase to $ 122.2 million. The initial estimates for 1994 amount to $ 119.4 million. The reasons for these revisions are as follows:

* Inclusive of exchange rate variations in all countries in the Field.

- (a) Salary scales and common staff costs: The changes to the Geneva General Service salary scale effective 1 January 1993 resulted in an increase of $ 0.2 million.
- (b) Exchange-rate variations and inflation: The initial estimates for 1993 for PSA/PPE at Headquarters were calculated on the basis of SFr 1.49 to one US dollar. Revised estimates are calculated on the basis of an exchange rate of SFr 1.48 to one US dollar, calculated on the basis of the average actual exchange rates during the first five months of the year and projections for the remainder of the year; this has resulted in an exchange rate loss of $ 0.22 million. The combined effect of variations in exchange rates in the field and higher-than-anticipated inflation worldwide required an increase in the support budgets in the field of $ 3.5 million and a net overall increase of $ 3.71 million for 1993. The initial 1994 budget estimates have been calculated at the same rate of exchange as the revised 1993 budget, i.e. SFr 1.48 to one US dollar. No inflation factor has been built into the 1994 estimates.
- (c) Variations in volume - staff costs: The changes in General Programmes staffing levels are set out Tables V.7 and V.8 and Summary Table 5. Table V.5 and Summary Table 6 give staff costs. For the field, there has been an increase in 1993 in these costs of $ 6.7 million. The reasons for such an increase relate mainly to the opening of new Field Offices and related staffing, or the strengthening of existing offices; necessitated by refugee emergencies. Emergencies in Benin, Ghana, Tajikistan and Haiti resulted in increased staff costs of $ 3.2 million. (Overall $ 6.8 million has been allocated from the Emergency Fund to cover both staff and non-staff costs associated with these emergencies. Of this amount $ 5.7 million was for the field and $ 1.1 million at Headquarters. It is hoped that some $ 4.4 million that has been allocated from the Emergency Fund for these emergencies for both staff costs and non-staff costs can be reimbursed to the Fund on receipt of contributions to Special Appeals). Moreover, operations in Bangladesh were initially only budgeted for the first six months of 1993; it has been necessary to extend activities in this country, with additional staff costs of some $ 1.5 million. There have also been additional requirements amounting to $ 0.5 million related to the opening of a Sub-Office in Jhapa, Nepal. Lack of progress in the voluntary repatriation programme to Angola has also meant that it has not been possible to phase down operations in Zaire; posts were consequently extended and field offices maintained, requiring an increase of $ 0.9 million in the revised estimates. Developments in Turkey, Algeria and Iraq have also required the strengthening of offices with increased staff costs of approximately $ 1.1 million. Further staff costs have been occasioned by the postponement of the closure of certain offices. Among those that were scheduled for closure were offices in Papua New Guinea, Singapore, Lesotho and Botswana; it has not been possible, however, to close these offices because of various refugee-related developments. This had led to additional staff costs of some $ 0.6 million. An increase of $ 1.1 million ($ 0.2 million for salaries/staff costs) was also approved at the Executive Committee meeting of 18 December 1992 for the expansion of People Oriented Planning (POP) training and the integration of POP and related concepts into UNHCR programming (document A/AC.96/806 of 18 December 1992 refers). On the other hand, reductions in staff costs of some $ 1.9 million have been possible through the transfer of certain activities formerly under General Programmes to Special Programmes; this has happened in the case of Angola, Guatemala, Hong Kong, the Lao People's Democratic Republic, Mozambique, Thailand and the former Yugoslavia. As regards increased staff costs at Headquarters, these are mainly the result of the creation of several professional Information Systems posts; these posts replaced long-term company consultancies. In addition, two Training Officer posts were established to improve in-house programme management. A further allocation of $ 1.1 million was also made available from the Emergency Fund in order to create four professional emergency administrative posts and five senior General Service administrative posts to improve UNHCR's operational capacities in emergency refugee situations. The envisaged $ 4.6 million net reduction in staff costs for 1994 is principally because of the phasing-down of activities in Asia, Honduras, Nicaragua, Yemen, and several countries in Africa.

- (d) Variations in volume - non-staff costs: The net increase of $ 6.3 million in non-staff costs (e.g. new equipment, vehicles, communication networks) in 1993 is primarily attributable to the opening or strengthening of offices in the field. As mentioned above, emergencies in Benin, Ghana, Tajikistan and Haiti required an allocation from the Emergency Fund of $ 2.5 million for non-staff costs. In addition, replacement of some non-expendable property for offices in the field has become vital. Non-staff costs in Headquarters decreased primarily due to the creation of several Information Systems posts to replace the use of long-term company consultants. For 1994, an overall increase of $ 1.8 million in non-staff costs has been foreseen in the initial estimates. The $ 6.2 million increase at Headquarters is mainly due to removal and installation costs associated with the new UNHCR premises. It also includes provisions for the Integrated Management Information Systems (IMIS) and the extension of E-Mail services both at Headquarters and in the field; increased allocations for training and for joint administrative activities within the United Nations system, such as for Internal Audit, are also included. These costs have been offset by reductions of $ 4.5 million in the field, principally as a result of the phasing-down of activities in the regions/countries mentioned in the previous paragraph.

3. Support costs for Special Programmes

74. Expenditure for PSA/PPE under Special Programmes totalled $ 89.8 million in 1992. Increased requirements especially for the Afghanistan, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, Guatemala, Mozambique, the former Yugoslavia and the CPA have led to revised estimated requirements for 1993 of some $ 117.2 million. An analysis of these amounts by objects of expenditure is given in Table V.5. An analysis of staffing levels (PSA/PPE) for Special Programmes by major programmes is found in Table V.9. In addition, detailed estimates and staffing requirements (revised 1993/initial 1994) by country or area for PSA/PPE related to Special Programmes are included in annexes to document A/AC.96/808(Parts I-VI). The amounts for 1994 related to PSA/PPE for Special Programmes are by nature provisional and do not lend themselves to meaningful comparison with the corresponding 1993 amounts.

4. Fund for International Field Staff Housing and Basic Amenities

75. Details of 1992 income and expenditure for the Fund can be found in Schedule 7 of the Annual Accounts for 1992 (A/AC.96/811). Total income recorded in 1992 is less than the prior year's income mainly because less household appliances were sold. Also included in income for 1992 are amounts from the rental of household appliances and the rental of private accommodation. It is estimated that expenditure levels in 1993 will be similar to expenditure levels in 1992, as a significant number of household appliances will require replacement and additional appliances will need to be provided to new locations. Income is expected to be lower than in 1992 as only a limited number of significant appliances remain to be sold.

76. In order to meet expected demands, an allocation from the 1993 Programme Reserve up to a maximum of $ 400,000, as approved by the Executive Committee in 1992 (document A.AC.96/804, paragraph 32(g) refers) will be made during the second half of the year to increase the Fund for International Field Staff Housing and Basic Amenities. To meet the needs for 1994, authorization is being sought for the transfer from the 1994 Programme Reserve of up to $ 300,000 to the Fund.

5. United Nations Regular Budget contribution to UNHCR administrative costs

77. As indicated in Table V.4, the United Nations Regular Budget contribution to UNHCR's administrative costs (PSA) in 1993 amounted to $ 21.4 million; this corresponds to the staff costs for 244 posts at Headquarters. The issue of the United Nations Regular Budget contribution has again received attention by the Executive Committee. In its 1994-1995 Biennium Budget submission, UNHCR proposed a number of additional requirements, including the provision for posts of UNHCR Representatives and Chiefs of Mission in 17 Least Developed Countries (LDC). While the Proposed Programme Budget for the Biennium 1994-1995 recognized that these 17 posts were a legitimate charge to the Regular Budget, it recommended that they be introduced in a phased manner. Thus for the Biennium 1994-1995, it was recommended that two of these posts, namely the Chief of Mission in Nepal and the Chief of Mission in Rwanda, be included in the Proposed Programme Budget. The proposal has not yet been confirmed. The 1994 Regular Budget initial estimates are thus set at $ 21 million.

6. Overall staffing levels

78. The initial projections for staffing in 1993 as presented in document A/AC.96/798 indicated that 1,572.9 work-years would be required under General Programmes, 244 work-years under the Regular Budget and an initially estimated 379.3 work-years under Special Programmes, giving a total of 2,196.2 work-years under all sources of funds.

79. An analysis of overall staffing levels (PSA/PPE) at 1 July 1993 is given in Table V.7. The overall staffing level currently stands at 3,654 posts (3,520.2 work-years), of which 1,906 (1,860.1 work-years) are under General Programmes, 1,504 (1,416.1 work-years) under Special Programmes, with the remaining 244 posts/work-years covered by the United Nations Regular Budget. This large increase, especially in the Special Programmes, can be attributed to the heavy staff demands imposed by the large-scale refugee/returnee situations concerning the former Yugoslavia, Cambodia, the Horn of Africa, Afghanistan, Mozambique, Guatemala and the Central Asian Republics (Table V.9 refers). The overall picture of staffing levels by Region and Headquarters for 1993 (revised) and 1994 (initial) under all sources of funds is outlined in Summary Table 5. Details of staffing levels in the field by region, as well as at Headquarters, can be found in the annexes to document A/AC.96/808(Parts I-VI).

80. For 1994, it is estimated that 3,372.1 work-years will be required under all sources of funds. This figure is, by necessity, quite tentative, as it is difficult to assess fully the staffing requirements for the entire year for a number of Special Programmes such as the former Yugoslavia, Mozambique, Guatemala, Cambodia, Afghanistan and the Horn of Africa. Table V.8 analyses the changes in staffing levels under General Programmes over initial and revised 1993 levels. Similarly, Table V.9 compares Special Programmes staffing levels, by major programmes, for 1992, 1993 (revised) and 1994 (initial).

F. Summary of proposals requiring the formal approval of the Executive Committee

81. With regard to General Programmes, the Executive Committee is asked to:
- (a) Approve the revised country and area programmes and the overall allocations of the 1993 General Programmes which remain at the already approved target of $ 413,658,000.
 - (b) Approve the country and area programmes and the overall allocations for the 1994 General Programmes amounting to $ 418,523,000 (including $ 25 million for the Emergency Fund and $ 20 million for the General Allocation for Voluntary Repatriation) as contained in document A/AC.96/808(Parts I-VI), and as included in column (8) of Summary Table 2 of this Overview.
 - (c) Authorize the High Commissioner to effect such adjustments in projects, country or area programmes and overall allocations, as may be required by changes affecting the refugee programmes for which they were planned, using the General Programmes Reserve where necessary, and to report such adjustments to the Executive Committee at its forty-fifth session in October 1994.
 - (d) Approve the transfer in 1994 of up to $ 300,000 from the Programme Reserve to the Fund for International Field Staff Housing and Basic Amenities.
