Notes

The following country notes serve primarily to explain changes in the population, which are not due to new arrivals or returns.

This table reflects the official sources for refugee statistics. Considering that only few industrialized countries maintain a refugee register, UNHCR has estimated the refugee population in a number of countries, based on recent refugee arrivals and recognition of asylum-seekers. Due to these differences in sources, definition and methods, Part C of the Annex provides a more solid basis for comparing the asylum and refugee experience between industrialized countries.

<sup>2</sup> UNHCR estimates, based on the arrival of refugees and asylum-seeker recognition over a 5-year period ending with the reporting year.

<sup>3</sup> UNHCR estimates, based on asylum-seeker recognition over a 10-year period ending with the reporting year. Official annual estimates of the population granted temporary protection have been included.

<sup>4</sup> The decrease in the refugee population in 2000 is due to the naturalization of some 188,000 ethnic-Azeri refugees from Armenia as well as a change in the statistical category of some 33,000 Uzbek citizens.

<sup>7</sup> UNHCR estimates, based on the arrival of refugees and asylum-seeker recognition over a 10-year period ending with the reporting year.

<sup>8</sup> The 2002-2003 figures include an estimated 70,000 Palestinian refugees residing in the country.

<sup>9</sup> The 1994 figure includes 20,000 Algerians who have been granted asylum (source: Interior Ministry). Estimates for other years are not available.

<sup>10</sup> Includes the categories "persons granted asylum and refugees recognized abroad", "quota refugees", "homeless foreigners", "family members of persons granted asylum", "civil war refugees from Bosnia and Herzegovina" and "de facto refugees" (Source: Central Aliens Register).

<sup>11</sup> UNHCR estimates since 1999, based on the arrival of refugees and asylum-seeker recognition over a 10-year period ending with the reporting year. The source and method of estimation prior to 1999 is unclear.

<sup>12</sup> A recent registration of Afghan refugees in the Islamic Rep. of Iran suggests that there are 600,000 more Afghan refugees than previously estimated. The 2004 estimates are subject to revision.

<sup>14</sup> Since 1995, 27,000 Palestinian and Iraqi refugees, previously assisted by UNHCR, are no longer reported by the UNHCR Office.

<sup>16</sup> The increase in 1998 is due to the inclusion of some 45,000 Filipino refugees. The decrease in 2003 is due to a change in the statistical category of this group.

<sup>17</sup> Includes refugees living in camps. According to a 2001 Government survey, the latest available estimates, there were an additional 1.6 mln Afghans living in urban areas, some of whom may be refugees. The 2004 estimates are subject to revision.

<sup>18</sup> The 2001-2003 figures include some 240,000 Palestinians who were not reported previously.

<sup>5</sup> The figures included in this column concern both annual arrivals and population estimates (stocks). A second major difference with the previous three columns is that temporary protection has ended for most refugees and that many of these refugees have returned.

<sup>6</sup> Number of persons granted refugee or humanitarian status, refugees admitted under resettlement programmes and refugees provided temporary protection.

Due to the temporary nature of some forms of protection (e.g. humanitarian status, temporary protection), not all those who are admitted stay indefinitely.

<sup>7</sup> Column 6 includes temporary protection for Bosnians in 1994 (24,117) and Kosovars in 1999 (1,593), humanitarian grants renewed in 2003 (3,839), but excludes aliens permits granted to Bosnians in 1996 (62,700).

<sup>8</sup> Column 6 includes refugees recognized at embassies (508), persons granted a special humanitarian residence permit (747), persons admitted for exceptional reasons (1,549) and Bosnians, Kosovars and Serbs granted temporary protection (4,745).

<sup>10</sup> Column 2 includes asylum applications lodged under the UNHCR mandate (2,372) and column 6 refers to refugees recognized under the UNHCR mandate (1994-1998).

<sup>11</sup> Column 6 refers to persons granted temporary leave to remain (TLR) outside the asylum procedure in 2000 and 2003.

<sup>12</sup> Column 6 refers to persons from the former Yugoslavia (58,500) and Somalia (10,000) granted temporary protection during 1994-1997.

<sup>13</sup> Column 6 refers to Bosnians granted temporary protection outside the asylum procedure in 2001.

<sup>15</sup> Column 6 refers to Bosnians (2,560), Iraqi (2,019) and Kosovars (1,967) granted temporary protection during 1994-2000.

<sup>16</sup> Column 6 refers to persons granted temporary protection under special cantonal and other regulations.
