UNHCR's Refugee-led Innovation Fund is currently accepting applications from organizations led by forcibly displaced and stateless people. With humanitarian funding dwindling and needs ever growing, championing communities to shape their own futures is more essential than ever. The Fund supports innovation from organizations led by people with lived experience of forced displacement or statelessness. In addition to multiyear funding of up to US$ 45,000, selected organizations receive holistic support from UNHCR's Innovation Service that emphasizes learning to boost their capacity and sustainability.
