Notes

The following country notes serve primarily to explain changes in the population, which are not due to new arrivals or returns.

This table reflects the official sources for refugee statistics. Considering that only few industrialized countries maintain a refugee register, UNHCR has estimated the refugee population in a number of countries, based on recent refugee arrivals and recognition of asylum-seekers.

Due to these differences in sources, definition and methods, Part C of the Annex provides a more solid basis for comparing the asylum and refugee experience between industrialized countries.

¹ The decrease in the refugee population in 1998 is mainly due to a verification of records.

² UNHCR estimates, based on the arrival of refugees and asylum-seeker recognition over a 5-year period ending with the reporting year.

³ UNHCR estimates, based on asylum-seeker recognition over a 10-year period ending with the reporting year. Official annual estimates of the population granted temporary protection have been included.

⁴ The decrease in the refugee population in 2000 is due to the naturalization of some 188,000 ethnic-Azeri refugees from Armenia as well as a change in the statistical category of some 33,000 Uzbek citizens.

⁵ The figures for 1995 and 1996 include asylum-seekers.

⁶ UNHCR estimates 1998-2000, based on asylum-seeker recognition over a 10-year period ending with the reporting year. The data source and definition for the earlier years is unclear. They possibly include estimates from a central register.

⁷ The 2004 figure is a UNHCR estimate, based on the arrival of refugees and asylum-seeker recognition over a 10-year period ending with the reporting year. The data source and definition for the earlier years is unclear.

⁸ UNHCR estimates, based on the arrival of refugees and asylum-seeker recognition over a 10-year period ending with the reporting year.

⁹ The 2002-2004 figures include an estimated 70,000 Palestinian refugees residing in the country.

¹⁰ Includes the categories "persons granted asylum and refugees recognized abroad", "quota refugees", "homeless foreigners", "family members of persons granted asylum", "civil war refugees from Bosnia and Herzegovina" and "de facto refugees" (Source: Central Aliens Register).

¹¹ UNHCR estimates since 1999, based on the arrival of refugees and asylum-seeker recognition over a 10-year period ending with the reporting year. The source and method of estimation prior to 1999 is unclear.

¹² The decrease in the refugee population in 2003 is primarily due to the de-registration of some 77,000 Palestinian refugees.

¹³ Figure for 2003 refers to end-2002.

¹⁴ Figures for 2002 and 2003 refer to end-2001.

¹⁵ The increase in 1998 is due to the inclusion of some 45,000 Filipino refugees. The decrease in 2003 is due to a change in the statistical category of this group.

¹⁶ UNHCR figures for Pakistan only include Afghans living in camps who are assisted by UNHCR. According to a 2005 Government census and subsequent voluntary repatriation during the year, there are an additional 1.9 million Afghans living outside camps, some of whom may be refugees. Those Afghans living outside camps receive no UNHCR assistance except access to UNHCR-facilitated voluntary repatriation.

¹⁷ The 2001-2004 figures include some 240,000 Palestinians who were not reported previously.

Notes

* UNHCR estimates. See also Annex A.6.

 The end-2004 figures for Pakistan only include Afghans living in camps who are assisted by UNHCR. According to a 2005 Government census and subsequent voluntary repatriation during the year, there are an additional 1.9 million Afghans living outside camps, some of whom may be refugees. Those Afghans living outside camps receive no UNHCR assistance except access to UNHCR-facilitated voluntary repatriation.

B.1 Prima facie refugee arrivals by region of asylum, 1995-2004 (thousands)

Due to data limitations, refugee arrivals in industrialized countries are not included here. See Annexes B.14, B.15, C.8, C.9, C.16 and C.17.

Data between 1995-1997 might include individually recognized refugees. See Annexes D.1, D.2 and D.4 for regional classifications.

Notes

¹ See Annex C.1. ² See Annexes C.8 and C.16. ³ See Annexes C.9 and C.17. ⁴ See Annex B.14. These four columns concern annual arrivals.

⁵ The figures included in this column concern both annual arrivals and population estimates (stocks). A second major difference with the previous three columns is that temporary protection has ended for most refugees and that many of these refugees have returned.

⁶ Number of persons granted refugee or humanitarian status, refugees admitted under resettlement programmes and refugees provided temporary protection. Due to the temporary nature of some forms of protection (e.g. humanitarian status, temporary protection), not all those who are admitted stay indefinitely.
