Overview |

Working environment

- Malaysia has not yet signed the 1951 Refugee Convention or its 1967 Protocol and lacks a formal legislative and administrative framework to address refugee matters.
- With no work rights, refugees, in particular women and children, tend to be at a high risk of exploitation, particularly refugee children who have no access to government schools.
- UNHCR works with some partner organizations to support refugee health, education and community empowerment. However, as the non-governmental sector in Malaysia remains limited, the Office also directly implements activities.
- The Malaysian Government provides access to public health care at a reduced rate for refugees recognized by UNHCR.
- The Malaysian Government implements strict policies to deter undocumented migrants from its territory. Since refugees and asylum-seekers are not distinguished from undocumented migrants under Malaysian law, they are vulnerable to the same penalties, including arrest, detention and deportation.

People of concern

The asylum-seekers and refugees in Malaysia, over 100,000 individuals, reside in urban areas, with the majority (90 per cent) originating from Myanmar, and the other 10 per cent from Afghanistan, Iraq, Somalia, and Sri Lanka. Approximately 40,000 people residing in Malaysia are considered stateless; the majority are ethnic Tamils formerly from India.

Needs and strategies

In the next biennium, UNHCR will continue to provide protection to over 100,000 urban asylum-seekers and refugees in Malaysia from the risk of arrest and detention and maintain efforts to prevent deportation. To this end, the Office will focus on consolidating registration and refugee status determination (RSD) activities and on undertaking regular efforts for the release from detention centres of people of concern arrested for the violation of immigration rules.

Durable solutions will remain necessary, with resettlement as one of the most viable options.

UNHCR will furthermore take action to strengthen access for refugees to basic services, with a particular focus on education (such as increasing the number of children attending primary school) and health (such as facilitating access to essential medical assistance). At the same time, the Office will continue to lobby with the Government for the right to work for refugees.

Main objectives and targets for 2014

The following matrix contains examples of some of the main activities planned in 2014. Using a selection of objectives from UNHCR's programme plans for the 2014-2015 biennium, it is designed to illustrate:

- what under the global needs assessment planning and prioritization process – has been planned (Planned activities) for particular groups of people of concern (People of concern);
- the identified needs that can be covered if full and flexible funding is made available (2014 comprehensive target);
   and
- the needs that may not be met if funding falls short of the ExCom-approved budget (Potential gap). The estimation of a potential gap is based on the country operation's own assessment of the likely impact of a global funding shortfall. Calculations are based on various criteria, including the particular context, strategic priorities and experience of resource availability for the respective area of activity in previous years.

Activities under objectives on child protection (including best interest determination), education and prevention and response to sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV) are core areas which are given priority in the allocation of funding (priority area). In order to ensure the necessary flexibility in the allocation of funds, UNHCR relies on unrestricted contributions from its donors.

It should be understood that in some cases, targets for activities or delivery of services may not be reached for reasons other than a funding shortfall, e.g. lack of access to people of concern, cases not reported, changing circumstances, security problems, insufficient capacity to implement all programmes planned, etc. In the Global Report 2014, an explanation of why any target may not have been reached will be provided.

Implementation

Coordination

UNHCR will continue to work closely with its partners in Malaysia, including the Malaysian Government, other UN organizations, civil society and refugee communities.

At the operational level, given the size of the population of urban refugees and asylumseekers, the refugee communities will be crucial partners, and a sustained community development effort will be necessary to address the wide array of needs of people of concern.

| Financial information |

Over the last four years, the financial requirements for UNHCR's operation in Malaysia have steadily increased to respond to the needs of the growing population of refugees and asylum-seekers in the country. In 2014, UNHCR's financial requirements for Malaysia are set at USD 20.1 million. Priorities continue to include maintaining access to asylum and implementing durable solutions, as well as addressing the issue of detention and imprisonment and providing continuous support for education, health and livelihood programmes.
